

Tables

---

2.1	Fiscal attributes in high- and low-growth developing countries, 1972–1995	33
2.2	Fiscal attributes in 20 transitional countries, 1993–1997	34
3.1	Targets and inflation forecasts, 1993–1997	43
4.1	Basic macroeconomic indicators	60
4.2	Long-run elasticities	67
4.3	Twelve simulation scenarios	72
5.1	Interest rate reaction function, July 1993 to July 1999	87
5.2	A Phillips curve for the Czech Republic, November 1993 to March 1999	95
5A.1	Forecasting performances of the interest rate reaction function	103
5A.2	Forecasting performances of the Phillips curve	104
6.1	The European Union and Eastern Europe: per capita income, 1995	107
6.2	GDP per capita at current prices and exchange rates	108
6.3	Convergence criteria: EU and the Baltics	118
6.4	Convergence criteria: CEE countries and the Baltics	118
6.5	Central and Eastern Europe: economic liberalization indices, 1995	120
6.6	Real effective exchange rate of the lats, December 1994 to March 1998	123
6.7	Selected indicators of merchandise export performance, January 1994 to February 1998	125
6.8	Latvia: analysis of global export market share, 1993–1998	127
6.9	Latvia's export market share in selected EU countries, 1996–1998	127
6.10	Real product wage and productivity	128
6.11	Productivity and unit labour cost in manufacturing, 1993–1996	129
6.12	Foreign direct investment in Latvia, 1995–1998	129
7.1	Main macroeconomic indicators of Lithuania	136
7.2	Foreign investment, loans and increase in reserve assets	138
7.3	Current account deficit	138
7.4	Cumulative FDI inflows per capita	141

7.5	Ratio of national budget balance to GDP	149
8.1	Structure of BNB accounts under the CBA	155
8.2	Volatility of balance-sheet indicators and major monetary variables since adoption of the CBA	171
9.1	Growth rate, inflation and unemployment in Poland, 1992–1997	185
9.2	Domestic economy: demand and supply in Poland, 1992–1997	187
9.3	Domestic demand in Poland, 1992–1997	187
9.4	Private consumption and its sources in Poland, 1992–1997	187
9.5	Investments and corporate credit in Poland: 1992–1997	187
9.6	Nominal and real NBP interest rates, 1989–1997	188
9.7	Sources of investment financing in Poland, 1992–1997	189
9.8	Structure of general government deficit in Poland, 1992–1997	190
9.9	GDP, domestic demand, current account, exports and imports in Poland, 1992–1997	190
9.10	Investment and savings in Poland, 1992–1997	190
9.11	Inflation in EU countries and Poland, 1996–1997	194
9.12	General government gross debt in EU countries and Poland, 1996–1997	197
9.13	Long-term interest rates in EU countries and Poland, 1996–1997	199
11.1	GDP annual growth for seven CEE economies, 1990–2000	237
11.2	Consumer price inflation, 1992–2000	239
11.3	Real interest rates for seven CEE economies, 1992–2000	241
11.4	Trade patterns for six CEE economies, 1993 and 1996	244
11.5	Net foreign investment, 1993:Q1 to 1998:Q1	246
11.6	Equity inward investment, 1993:Q1 to 1998:Q1	247
11.7	Private inward debt flows, 1993:Q1 to 1998:Q1	247
11.8	Trade balance, 1993:Q1 to 1998:Q1	248
13.1	Central bank ownership of payment systems	276
13.2	Central bank oversight of payment systems	276
13.3	Pricing of central bank payment services	277
13.4	Credit and debit float	279
14.1	Gross domestic savings in CEE transition countries	291
14.2	Current account deficit in selected transition countries	297
14.3	Gross domestic saving in Lithuania	298
14.4	Gross domestic saving in Lithuania by institutional sectors	300
14.5	Deposits in foreign currencies in commercial banks	302
14.6	Savings as a percentage of disposable income	303

14.7	Domestic investment in Lithuania	304
14.8	Gross capital flows to GDP in Lithuania	305
15.1	Number of branches in the commercial bank sector	313
15.2	Employment in the commercial bank sector	314
15.3	Net profitability in the commercial bank sector	314
15.4	Structure of core capital in the Polish banking sector: commercial banks	316
15.5	Structure of the Polish banking sector	317
15.6	Structure of core capital in the Polish banking sector	317
15.7	Structure of assets in the Polish banking sector	318
15.8	Structure of net loans in the Polish banking sector	318
15.9	Structure of deposits in the Polish banking sector	318
15.10	Share of bad loans in total loans	321
15.11	Restructuring bonds programme	321
15.12	Solvency ratio: commercial banks	322
15.13	Solvency ratio: cooperative banks	322
15.14	Leading auditors of commercial banks	327
15.15	Performance indices of commercial banks	336
15.16	Structure of share capital of commercial banks	336
15.17	Structure of foreign share capital, September 1998	337
16.1	Number of banks in the Czech Republic	344
16.2	Share of banks in total assets	346
16.3	Classified loans	348
16.4	Konsolidační Banka: net public expenditure, 1993–1998	354
16.5	Česká Inkasní: net public expenditure, 1993–1998	356
16.6	Small banks under liquidation, conservatorship and prepared for merger (October 1998)	358
16.7	Debt and profit/loss evaluation of CF, 1997–1998	362
16.8	Government exposure in loss and classified loans in three big banks	364
16.9	Assessment of costs for banks' consolidation and stabilization	366
16.10	Net public costs of consolidation and stabilization programmes, 1993–1998	367
17.1	Capitalization and turnover, end 1994	374
17.2	Summary statistics	380
17.3	Partial autocorrelations	382
17.4	Autocorrelations of second moments	383
17.5	Augmented Dickey–Fuller tests	387
17.6	Variance ratio tests	388
17.7	Bilateral cointegration test results	389
17.8	Multilateral cointegration test results	389

17.9a	Multilateral cointegration test results: (a) EU accession countries and FTSE	390
17.9b	Multilateral cointegration test results: EU accession countries	390
17.10	Granger causality test results	391
18.1	Concentration ratios for the banking systems in the sample	404
18.2	Determination of margins on loans and global interest margins	408
18.3	Quantity of granted loans	411
19.1	Number of chartered commercial banks in Central and Eastern Europe, 1990–1996	419
19.2	Concentration levels of CEE banking systems, 1993–1996	420
19.3	Distribution of domestic credit by category of agents, 1995	422
19.4	Average return on assets, 1992–1996	428
19.5	Estimate of equation (19.1) for all banks in the sample, 1992–1996	431
19.6	Estimate of equation (19.2) for all banks in the sample, 1992–1996	432
19.7	Analysis of the impact of concentration levels on bank performance, 1992–1996 (equation (19.1), differentiating between concentration levels)	434
19.8	Analysis of the impact of concentration levels on bank performance, 1992–1996 (equation (19.2), differentiating between concentration levels)	434
19A1.1	The set-up of two-tiered banking systems in CEE countries	439
19A1.2	Number of commercial, state-owned and foreign banks in the sample, by country	440
19A2.1	Estimates of XEFF , 1992–1996	442
20.1	GMM estimation results for convergence of bank loans: CEE countries	454
20.2	GMM estimation results for convergence of bank deposits: CEE countries	456
20.3	OLS and GMM estimation results for convergence of bank loans: CEE and EU countries	458
20.4	OLS and GMM estimation results for convergence of bank deposits: CEE and EU countries	459