

Acknowledgments

We would like to thank the many people involved in the organization and execution of the Conference on China in the World Economy, which was held at the University of Melbourne in July 1999. This conference was sponsored by Fosters Brewing Group Ltd and the Beijing Office of the Ford Foundation, as well as by the International Office of the University of Melbourne. We are most grateful to these sponsors for their financial support and encouragement, without which the conference could not have proceeded.

The conference programme was developed by a committee comprising Professor John Freebairn, Professor Peter Lloyd, Dr Xiao-guang Zhang, Dr Stephen Morgan and Dr Mei Wen, all from the University of Melbourne. The organization of the conference was carried out admirably by Libby Barclay and Persefoni Gouletsas from the Department of Economics at the University of Melbourne. We wish to thank all of the participants at the conference for generating a lively discussion on many different but related aspects of the Chinese economy.

Finally, we thank Francine O'Sullivan and other staff of Edward Elgar, who carried out the numerous tasks involved in editing and preparing the manuscript.
