

Tables

1.1	Entrepreneurship studies in the twentieth century	6
1.2	Entrepreneurship in international business studies	8
1.3	Different views of the entrepreneur	13
1.4	The embeddedness of business firms in their national institutional and ideological structures	22
1.5	Summary table of data collected on Hong Kong and Singaporean transnational corporations	44
2.1	Key macro-economic indicators on Hong Kong and Singapore, 1960–1999	52
2.2	Inward direct investments in Hong Kong by country of origin, 1970–1998	54
2.3	Evolving comparative advantage and major strategies of industrial development in Hong Kong, 1950–1999	56
2.4	Cumulative equity investments in Singapore by country of origin, 1965–1997	59
2.5	Net investment commitments in manufacturing in Singapore by country of origin, 1963–1999	60
2.6	Principal statistics for all establishments in all sectors by number of persons engaged and percentage shares of small and medium enterprises in Hong Kong, 1960–1998	64
2.7	Comparing business systems and entrepreneurship in Hong Kong and Singapore	75
2.8	Local and foreign ownership of selected sectors in Hong Kong, 1960–1998	76
2.9	Local and foreign ownership of selected sectors in Singapore, 1960–1998	77
2.10	Summary of divestments by Temasek Holdings in Singapore	83
2.11	Principal statistics for all establishments in all sectors by number of persons engaged and percentage shares of small and medium enterprises in Singapore, 1960–1998	86
2.12	Financial markets and institutions in Hong Kong and Singapore, 1960–1999	88
2.13	Number of establishments in all sectors and establishment–population ratios in Hong Kong and Singapore, 1960–1997	93

2.14	Distribution of the labour force by activity status in Hong Kong and Singapore, 1957–1999	96
3.1	Estimated flows and stocks of foreign direct investment from Hong Kong to selected host economies	107
3.2	Trade involving Hong Kong's outward processing in Mainland China, 1990–1996	109
3.3	Cumulative outward direct investment from Singapore by country, 1976–1997	110
3.4	Foreign equity investment of Singaporean firms by industrial origin and activity abroad, 1990–1997	113
3.5	A partial list of top TNCs from emerging markets ranked by sales, 1977	116
3.6	The top 25 TNCs from developing countries ranked by foreign assets, 1997	118
3.7	Global geographies of transnational operations by indigenous companies from Singapore and Hong Kong	123
3.8	Importance of different factors of globalisation assessed by indigenous companies from Singapore by region	128
3.9	Modes of foreign entry by 204 indigenous companies from Singapore by host country	131
3.10	Comparison of the characteristics of transnational corporations from Hong Kong and Singapore	134
3.11	Composition of manufacturing exports of three Asian NIEs in the US market, 1989–1992	138
3.12	Agencies of the Singapore state in the regionalisation effort	145
3.13	Assistance schemes and programmes of the Economic Development Board of Singapore	148
4.1	Profiles of transnational entrepreneurs by gender and designation	158
4.2	Influence of home country conditions on the establishment of foreign operations by host region and transnational entrepreneurs	170
4.3	Influence of host country conditions on the establishment of foreign operations by host region and transnational entrepreneurs	171
4.4	Influence of global conditions on the establishment of foreign operations by host region and transnational entrepreneurs	173
4.5	Mechanisms of establishing foreign operations and the role of entrepreneurial vision by transnational entrepreneurs	174
4.6	Case studies of transnational entrepreneurs and their entrepreneurial endowments/resources	188

4.7	Competitive advantages in establishing foreign operations by transnational entrepreneurs	195
4.8	Major problems faced and solutions adopted by indigenous companies from Singapore by region	196
4.9	Attributes of entrepreneurship in overcoming problems in foreign operations by transnational entrepreneurs	204
5.1	Case studies of transnational intrapreneurs from government-linked companies and their entrepreneurial endowments/resources	218
5.2	Case studies of transnational intrapreneurs and their entrepreneurial endowments/resources	220
6.1	Comparison of transnational entrepreneurs and transnational intrapreneurs	256
6.2	Activities by the Trade Development Board to promote Singapore's trade and investments outside Asia 1993–1998	272