access charges 7, 9, 40, 59–60 beaches 251, 253
efficiency and spatial distribution effects of changes in 142, 153–61
reservoir recreation 277 simulating effect of changes in 151–3, 156–7
access time to recreation site travel time
GIS used to calculate duration of 197–206
valuation of 4, 6, 12, 44, 81, 118, 145, 171, 197, 226, 251, 303–4, 313
walk-in time 42–5, 47, 49–56, 62, 65, 68, 71
access value, measurement of 281–2, 286–7, 288, 294–6
accident statistics, climbing 89, 93 accommodation, availability of 14, 126, 130–34
acid rain depositions 2, 8
Adamowicz, W.L. 9, 10, 13, 15, 61, 62, 65, 92, 149, 165, 167, 185, 188, 223 aggregate efficiency effects 161–2 Alberta, Canada
choice of moose hunting sites in 13, 15, 62, Ch. 9
water-based recreation in 62
Almost Ideal Demand System 281, 287, 296
Alps, North Eastern, demand system for day trips to 12, 14, Ch. 6 alternative specific constants (ASCs) 172–3, 176, 177, 179, 180, 185, 228, 229, 230
Alvarez-Farizo, B. 13, 14, 59
American Alpine Club 89, 93
American Psychological Association 25
anual trip generation function 236
Arc-Info 192
ARCO 299, 300, 307, 318
Arrow, K.J. 24, 25, 35
attribute data, form of 166, 171–2 attribute theory of value 10 Autoroute 49, 145, 197
avidity weights 300, 310, 316–18
backcountry canoeing routes, recreational value of 15, Ch. 11
Backpacker 93
Balkan, E. 204
Bartholomew's database 197–8
Bateman, I.J. 10, 13, 15, 195, 197, 198, 199, 200, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209,
216, 217, 282
Bayes Theorem 274
beach closures, welfare loss associated with 15, 241–4, 264–5
in MNL model 246–7, 258–62
in MXL model 249, 259–61, 263–4 beach erosion, welfare loss associated
with 15, 241–2, 245, 265
in MNL model 246–7, 255–6, 262–3
in MXL model 249, 257, 263, 264
beach pollution 140
beach recreation, random utility model of 15, Ch. 12
Becker, G. 289
Bell, D. 13
Bell, S. 145
Ben-Akiva, M. 125, 128, 149, 165, 189, 228
benefit–cost analysis 2, 24, 35, 143–4, 268 benefits transfer
definition of 207
essential assumption required for 207
GIS-based 207–14
Bernouilli, J. 82
Berrens, R. 13, 36
Index

Bhat, C.R. 61
binary choice models 125, 127 biodiversity measures 236
Bishop, R. 24, 35
Blamey, R. 11, 36
Bloomfield, C.P. 40
Bockstael, N.E. 5, 139, 140, 147, 195, 197, 223, 241, 289, 319
Bohara, A. 24, 35
bolts, climbing 76
ban on 78, 79, 80
bouldering, valuing access to, using CVM 13–14, Ch. 2 bounded rationality 126
Boxall, P.C. 15, 62, 92, 221, 236
Boyle, K.J. 24, 25, 28, 36, 93, 207 Brainard, J.S. 195, 208, 211, 212, 213, 214, 217 brand preference 125
Brefle, W.S. 16
Brewer, D. 4, 102
Brookshire, D.S. 143
Brown, G. Jr. 90
budget shares 281, 283–4, 285
Burt, O.R. 4, 102

CAI, see Italian Alpine Club (CAI)
Cairngorm Mountain Company 51, 52
Cairngorm ski centre 123–4, 129, 130, 132, 133, 134
Cairngorms 40, 42, 45, 46, 47, 51–5
California, whalewatching in, see whalewatching demand and value Cameron, T.A. 13, 86–7, 90, 165, 275, 279 campsites 224, 227, 231, 303, 307, 313 Canada
choice of moose hunting sites in 13, 15, 62, Ch. 9 recreational value of backcountry canoeing routes in 15, Ch. 11 canoeing routes, recreational value of, see backcountry canoeing routes, recreational value of car occupancy rate 156 car parking facilities 213, 254, 255, 257 car parking fees 14, 42, 43, 44, 51–6, 253 Carson, R.T. 24, 25, 36, 188 catch rates, expected 299, 300, 301, 304, 307, 308–9, 311, 312, 313 under baseline conditions 314–15 expected annual compensating variation associated with increasing 300, 315–16 relationship between trout stocks and 313–14, 317 categorically nested goods 25–6
Caulkin, P. 5
Cavlovic, T. 21, 22, 36
centroid origins 200–206, 214 Cesario, F.J. 226
choice modelling (CM) 10–11, 60–62
applied to deer hunting in Scotland 62 determining demand for rock climbing in Scotland 14, Ch. 4 environmentally sensitive areas in Scotland 62 water-based recreation in Alberta 62 combined with travel cost RUM 13 applied to choice of moose hunting sites in Alberta 13, 15, 62, Ch. 9 testing for effects of choice complexity 14, 60, 65, 69–70, 71–2 testing for rationality 60, 65, 70–71, 72 choice set, definition of 15, 166, 171–2, 187 choke price 7–8, 102, 281, 287
Cicchetti, C.J. 85
Clawson, M. 3, 12
climber’s ability level 29, 33, 43, 47, 48, 49, 50, 64, 79–80, 83–4, 89 closed-ended elicitation formats 24 Cobb–Douglas demand system 281, 296 collective goods 82–3 collinearity 165, 167, 176, 227, 228
Common, M.S. 237
compensating variation (CV) 7, 61, 81, 87, 149, 268
access value and 295
expected annual for absence of injuries 300, 315–16
Index

mixing with equivalent measures in cost–benefit analysis 143–4 per trip measures 150, 151, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 162, 183–4, 223, 231–5 as social welfare measure 270–71, 277–8 conditional logit model, see multinomial logit models congestion 40, 41
modelling of 4, 6, 12, 45, 56 beach 262
hunting 170–74, 176–7, 179, 180, 184, 185
rock climbing 62–3, 65, 68 construct validity tests 25; see also scope tests consumer’s surplus 3, 7 access value and 288, 294–5, 296 different marginal utilities of income leading to differences in 269, 277–8 GIS techniques used to predict 15, 200–207
Hicksian measures of, see compensating variation (CV); equivalent variation (EV) probability-weighted ex post, see expected surplus (ES) rationing measures reducing 55 see also willingness to pay (WTP) contingent trip behaviour 28 contingent valuation method (CVM) 10, 59 applications of valuing forest recreation 8 valuing rock climbing and bouldering access 13–14, Ch. 2 conceptual problems of valuing gains and losses in 143–4 elicitation formats for 21, 24, 35 history of 3
non-use values estimated using 10 validity tests of 25 scope tests 13–14, 22, 25–6, 31, 33, 34, 35–6 corner solutions 6 correlated log-normal heterogeneity 101 cost–benefit analysis 2, 24, 35, 143–4, 268 cost-effectiveness indicators 55, 56 cottage developments 224, 227, 229–30, 232, 233 count models 5, 8, 12, 81, 86
applied to day trips to North-Eastern Alps 12, 14, Ch. 6 whalewatching demand and value 12, 16, Ch. 14 combined with random utility models 12–13, 99, 281 to explore distribution issues of forest recreation policies in Northern Ireland 14–15, Ch. 8 see also forest-based recreation see also negative binomial (NB) distributions; Poisson counts count R² 132–3
Creel, M.D. 100, 147
criterion (external) validity tests 25 cross elasticities identical under IIA assumption 128, 129 price 101, 104, 133–4, 282, 283–5, 293–4 quality 286, 293–4
Cummings, R.G. 143
CVM, see contingent valuation method (CVM) damage cost functions 53–5 dams 2, 36, 83, 275
day trips to beaches in mid-Atlantic region of US 15, Ch. 12 to North-Eastern Alps, see Alps, North-Eastern, demand system for day trips to to Scottish ski centres 14, 124, 132–4 death, probability of, from climbing falls 77, 79, 80, 86, 88, 89–90 Deaton, A. 281

deer hunting 62
demand systems approach 280–81; see also double semilog (DS) demand system, applied to whalewatching in California; semilog demand systems
Nick Hanley, W. Douglass Shaw and Robert E. Wright - 9781781950319 Downloaded from Elgar Online at 01/01/2019 09:09:14AM via free access demographic variables 29, 47, 63, 65, 108, 110, 113, 114, 130, 168, 250, 311, 312, 315 Department of the Environment 144, 154, 156, 159–60, 192
Department of Transport 198
Desvouges, W.H. 36, 204, 299, 300, 318 dichotomous choice (DC) format 24 distribution effect 142–3, 153–61, 162 double semilog (DS) demand system, applied to whalewatching in California 282 adding quality effects in demand 285–6 educational level 275, 276
Edwards, S.F. 86
effects coding 172–3
efficiency effect 142–3, 153–61 aggregate 161–2
Englin, J. 5, 12, 13, 15, 100, 101, 103, 106, 140, 149, 221, 225, 227, 228 entry fees, see access charges Environmentally Protected Areas 140 equity effect 142–3, 153–61, 162 equivalent variation (EV) 7, 81, 143–4, 268 erosion, see beach erosion, welfare loss associated with; footpath erosion ex ante payments 82–3, 88; see also option price (OP) ex post surplus calculations 82, 188 expected catch rates, see catch rates, expected expected surplus (ES) 82, 85 expected utility models (EUM), applied to risky situations 78, 80, 81–6 alternatives to 88
possible empirical models 86–8 expenditure at ski sites 124 expected 130–34
expenditure functions 282–3, 288 normalized 283
restricted 86
in two-constraint demand systems 289 Feather, P. 6, 44, 100, 108, 147, 197, 289 finite mixture binomial model, identification of 273
finite mixture MNL models, see mixed logit models
Fisher, A.C. 1, 55
Fisher information matrix 273 fishing on canoe routes 229
estimating recreational trout fishing damages in Montana, see trout fishing, recreational, estimating damages to, in Montana float fishing 303, 307, 313
water quality improvements estimated by demand for 2 fixed climbing anchors 76
ban on 22–3, 78, 79, 80
footbridges 51, 56
footpath erosion 40, 56
forest-based recreation backcountry recreationists’ valuation of forest and park management features in Nopoming Provincial Park, Manitoba, see backcountry canoeing routes, recreational value of choice modelling used to evaluate 10–11
combined with travel cost RUM 13
see also perceptions versus objective measures of environmental quality in combined revealed and stated preference models of environmental valuation CVM used to evaluate 8
GIS-based transfer models for 207–14
GIS-based travel cost study of 15, 197–206 spatial distribution versus efficiency effects of forest recreation policies in Northern Ireland 14–15, Ch. 8 background 139–42
discussion and conclusions 161–2 efficiency and spatial distributions of selected policy scenarios 153–61 Index

changes at single sites 153, 154–5, 159, 162 regional restructuring 153, 159–61, 162 uniform changes across sites 153, 156–9, 162 equity versus efficiency in recreation benefits 142–4 model specification and estimation 147–50 count model of trip frequency 149–50 MNL model 147–9
policy simulation 150–53
survey data 144–7
forest buffers 225, 231 forest fires 140, 222, 224, 227–31 passim welfare impact of 232, 234, 235–6 forest site quality combining revealed and stated preference data to model changes in 13, 15, Ch. 9 differences in utility accounted for by 148, 149 efficiency and spatial distribution effects of changes in 153–5, 159, 161 simulating effect of improvements in 151–3 single index of 145–7
forestry activity, see logging Freeman, A.M. 24, 200
Full Information Maximum Likelihood (FIML) techniques 44, 49, 99–100, 106, 113, 167, 177, 311 game-theoretic empirical models 6 Garrod, G.D. 204
GAUSS-based software 249, 292, 311 generalised extreme value distribution (GEV) 270, 271–2, 305–6 generic bundle of attribute levels 169, 179 Geographical Information Systems (GIS) 15, Ch. 10 canoe routes modelled using 224–5, 227, 228 modelling recreational values (GIS-based travel cost studies) 196–206
GIS, see Geographical Information Systems (GIS)
Graham, D.A. 82, 85
gravity models 3
Greene, W.H. 28, 106, 120, 145, 149, 292 grid search procedures 167 Grijalva, T. 13, 21, 35, 36, 74, 93, 101, 106, 120 group meetings, data obtained from 169, 227, 228 Gumbel distribution 127–8, 129
Haab, T.C. 5, 12, 16, 100, 101, 105, 125, 241, 246
Halton draws 249
Hanemann, W.M. 5, 103, 143, 149, 183, 223, 241, 283, 319
Hanley, N.D. 8, 11, 13, 14, 21, 57, 59, 60, 61, 62, 74, 145
Hardin, G. 57
Hausman, J.A. 2, 5, 61, 68, 131, 147, 148, 275, 290 health state function 83 Heckman, J. 289, 292
hedonic travel cost (HTC) model 90–91
Hellerstein, D. 5, 9, 100, 147 Herriges, J.A. 2, 43, 57, 88, 246, 268 heterogeneous extreme value logit 61 heteroskedasticity 3
Hicks, R.L. 125, 241
hierarchical models 213
hill walking 47, 56, 59 Hotelling, H. 3, 191
household production functions 147 Hueco Tanks Texas State Park, valuing bouldering access in 13–14, Ch. 2
hunting
choice of moose hunting sites in Alberta 13, 15, 62, Ch. 9 uncertainty associated with 92 hunting trails, accessibility of 170–74, 176, 180, 184–5 Hutchison, W.G. 14
hypothetical referendum format 24 imperfect information framework 86 implicit prices 11, 61
beach attributes 254–7 passim, 264 rock climbing site attributes 66–72 passim, 91

Nick Hanley, W. Douglass Shaw and Robert E. Wright - 9781781950319
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 01/01/2019 09:09:14AM via free access inclusive values 129, 149, 151 income effects 11, 33, 48, 104–5, 113 in double semilog (DS) demand system 282, 283, 286, 292–3, 295, 296 random utility model extended to allow for 15–16, 86, Ch. 13 income elasticities 282, 283–5, 293–4, 295, 296 independence of irrelevant alternatives (IIA) property of MNL model 45, 61, 71, 88, 129, 247, 274 Hausmann–McFadden specification test for 61, 68, 69, 131–2, 148, 188 indifference curves 88 indirect utility function 7, 44–5, 60, 71–2, 86, 87, 147–8, 165–6, 223, 243, 247 in double semilog (DS) model 283, 287, 288 relaxing assumption of linearity in 15–16, Ch. 13 injury, probability of, from climbing falls 77, 79–80, 82–4, 86, 88, 89–90 integrability in semi-logarithmic demand systems 102–5 intercept restrictions 104 inverse mills ratio 292
Jakus, P.M. 12, 14, 21, 46, 74, 75, 78, 79, 80, 84, 89, 91, 92, 93
Jensen’s inequality 85
John Muir Trust 42, 46–7, 63
joint probability mass function (PMF) 272–4 Kahneman, D. 36, 88
Kanninen, B. 143
Kaoru, Y. 90, 140, 187
kayaking 224, 228
Kling, C.L. 2, 5, 43, 57, 88, 125, 268, 281
Knetisch, J.L. 12, 36, 197
Krutila, J.V. 1, 55
labour supply modelling 5–6, 125
LaFrance, J.T. 100, 103, 281, 282, 283
Lake District, footpath erosion in 40
Lancaster, K. 4, 10
land management 1–2
land use changes 71
raster representation of 193 landscape ecology models 194–5 Larson, D.M. 5, 16, 85, 88, 94, 197, 280, 289, 290, 297 leisure time, marginal value of 282, 289–90, 294–5, 296 Lerman, S.R. 125, 128, 140, 145, 149, 189, 228, 310 likelihood ratio test 70
LIMDEP 129, 145, 149, 227
Linear Expenditure System 281, 287, 296 Loewenstein, G. 62, 71, 93 logging 168, 170–74, 176, 224 cutblocks 224, 225, 227, 229–31 long walk-in policy, see walk-in time Loomis, J.B. 21, 35, 100, 147, 200, 202, 217, 235, 290
Louviere, J.J. 11, 60, 165, 166, 168, 169, 177, 188
Luce, R.D. 61, 125
Luce’s Choice Axiom, see independence of irrelevant alternatives (IIA) property of MNL model Maddala, G.S. 148, 204
mail surveys 27–8, 46–7, 63, 77–8, 250, 274–5, 301
Maler, K.G. 11
MapInfo 192
marginal cost of motoring 49, 63 marginal utility of changes in site attributes 66–8, 71 marginal utility of environmental goods 25 marginal utility of income 10–11, 45, 61, 84–5, 87–8, 223, 244, 247, 256, 263, 264, 316 allowing for differences in 15–16, 86, Ch. 13 marginal value of time 282, 289–90, 294–5, 296 marine recreation 5
marketing 125, 128, 165
Markov Chain Monte Carlo simulator 270
McConnell, K.E. 5, 12, 16, 100, 101, 105, 182, 226, 289, 319
Index

McFadden, D.L. 60, 61, 68, 88, 130, 131, 139, 147, 148, 168, 222, 241, 269–70, 271, 274, 300
McFadden's R² 133, 148, 149, 150, 293 Mendelsohn, R. 5, 90, 100, 147, 196, 200 meta-analysis 208, 211
mining waste, estimating damages caused by, see trout fishing, recreational, estimating damages to, in Montana missing attribute levels 167, 176, 179 mixed logit models of beach recreation 241, 247–50, 256–7, 259–61, 263–4 features of 249–50, 274 income effects analyzed using finite mixture model 268–9, 272–8 mixing distribution 248, 249 Montgomery, M. 43, 44
moose hunting sites, choice of, see perceptions versus objective measures of environmental quality in combined revealed and stated preference models of environmental valuation moose populations 170–77, 179, 180 correlation between perceived and objective measures of 184, 185 welfare implications of changing 183–4 Morey, E.R. 4, 8, 12, 16, 43, 44, 45, 88, 99, 120, 147, 150, 173, 188, 223, 299, 300, 304, 311, 316, 317, 319
Morgenstern, O. 82
motor boats 224, 227, 228 mountain biking 42, 56
Mountain Rescue Council 93 mountain rescues 41, 83–4, 91 mountaineering numbers participating in 41, 53, 59, 93
see also rock climbing multilevel models 213
multi-model estimation with scaling 187 multinomial logit models 10–11, 60, 61, 65–8, 71, 86, 125–8, 131–2, 139, 271–2 of beach recreation 241, 245–7, 254–6, 258–63 combined with count model to explore distribution effects of forest recreation policies in Northern Ireland 14–15, Ch. 8 see also forest-based recreation of demand for reservoir recreation 275–8 identification of 273
independence of irrelevant alternatives (IIA) property of 45, 61, 71, 88, 128, 129, 247, 274 Hausmann–McFadden specification test for 61, 68, 69, 131–2, 148, 188 random parameters 61, 81, 274 testing for the effects of choice complexity 70 valuing attributes of backcountry canoeing routes using Ch. 11 see also mixed logit models; nested logit models multiple sites, trips to 4
National Park Service (NPS) 3, 22
National Survey of Fishing, Hunting and Wildlife-Associated Recreation (US DOI) 311, 316 natural resource damage assessment 2, 16 assessing non-use values in 24, 235 see also trout fishing, recreational, estimating damages to, in Montana negative binomial (NB) distributions 81, 114, 147, 149–50 with quadratic variance function 101, 106, 110, 111, 113, 115, 116, 119 nested logit models 60, 68–9, 71, 128–30, 132–5, 247, 274 repeated 14, 43–56, 304–8
testing for the effects of choice complexity 70 nesting parameter 45, 49 nitrogen loading 140
nonmarket valuation, definition of 24 non-point source pollution 2, 8 non-repeated multinomial logit model 43 non-use values 9, 10, 11, 36 in natural resource damage assessments 24, 235 oil spills 243, 258
open access, problems caused by 40–41, 55 open-ended (OE) elicitation format 21, 24, 35 option price (OP) 82–5 based on differences in expected utilities 86–8 risk preferences incorporated in 90 ordinary least squares (OLS) 101 outdoor recreation history of study of 3–6 overview of methodological approaches 6–13 methods for estimating recreational values 10–13 what do we want to value? 6–9 reasons for studying 1–2 overcrowding, see congestion overdispersion 150
own-price elasticities 133–4, 281, 283–5, 293–4, 296 own-quality elasticities 285, 293–4
Parsons, G.R. 13, 15, 43, 44, 99, 140, 147, 149
Pearson ratio 180, 181 perceptions versus objective measures of environmental quality in combined revealed and stated preference models of environmental valuation 13, 15, Ch. 9 Poisson Models 5, 81, 101, 106, 110, 111, 114, 115, 116, 119, 147, 149–50, 211, 213, 308–9, 313, 316 pollution effects of reducing 9, 140 estimating damage caused by, see trout fishing, recreational, estimating damage to, in Montana
  non-point source pollution 2, 8 portages 224, 227, 229–30, 233 postal codes 226
postcard surveys, in-field 301–3, 317 posterior probabilities 274, 276–7, 278 Potential Pareto Improvement (PPI) 142, 143 probit models 125, 130
prospect theory 88
prospective reference theory 88 pseudo R², see McFadden’s R² public goods 82–3
quality effects on demand 285–6, 293–4 Randall, A. 145, 217
random parameters logit model 61, 81, 274 random utility models (RUM) 10, 12–13, 24, 60, 81, 139, 280–81 combined with count model 12–13, 99, 281 extended to allow for uncertainty 86–8 repeated 12, 14, 43–56, 99, 147, 281, 304–8 see also mixed logit models; multinomial logit models; nested logit models raster data model 192, 193 rationality bounded 126
  testing for 60, 65, 70–71, 72 regret theory 88
relative scale parameter 166–7, 168, 177–9, 185 repeated nested logit models 14, 43–56, 304–8 rescue services 41, 83–4, 91 reservoir recreation, modelling demand for 15–16, Ch. 13 response rates 27, 47, 63, 250, 303, 318 revealed preference approaches 10, 11–13, 24, 59, 80–81 combined with stated preference approach 13 advantages of 165
see also perceptions versus objective measures of environmental quality in combined revealed and stated preference models of environmental valuation see also travel cost models (TCM) risk, incorporated into demand for rock climbing 14, Ch. 5 roads quality of 170–72, 174, 176 vector representation of 193

rock climbing
accident statistics 89, 93 determining demand for, based on site characteristics 14, Ch. 4 risk incorporated into demand for, see risk, incorporated into demand for rock climbing site-specific attributes 49, 62–3 using economic instruments to manage access to sites in Scotland 14, Ch. 3 valuing access to sites 13–14, Ch. 2

Rosenthal, D.H. 196, 197

Scarpa, R. 14
scenic quality 63, 65, 68, 71, 211, 227, 231

Schulze, W. 24
scope tests 13–14, 22, 25–6, 31, 33, 34, 35–6

Scotland
deer hunting in 62
demand for rock climbing in 14, Ch. 4 see also rock climbing environmentally sensitive areas in 62 footpath erosion in 40 managing access to rock-climbing sites in 14, Ch. 3 see also rock climbing modelling choice and switching behaviour between ski centres in 14, Ch. 7 see also ski sites, modelling choice of seasonal welfare measure 45, 49, 52–3 semilog demand systems 102–5, 281–7 passim, 296; see also double semilog (DS) demand system, applied to whalewatching in California sewage works 2
Shaw, W.D. 5, 6, 9, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 21, 43, 44, 46, 59, 74, 75, 78, 79, 80, 84, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 101, 105, 108, 197, 289 Shonkwiler, J.S. 5, 9, 13, 15, 100, 101, 103, 105, 119 single income effect restrictions 104 single index of destination attractiveness 145–7 site locations, definition of, in travel cost studies 196 ski runs, difficulty of 130–35 ski sites, modelling choice of in Scotland 14, Ch. 7 Smith, V.K. 5, 24, 25, 84, 88, 90, 204, 319 snow cover 14, 124, 126, 130–33 social welfare function 271 socioeconomic variables 29, 33, 47, 48, 63–4, 65, 102, 104–5, 108, 110, 114, 139, 141, 145, 162, 194, 208, 211, 213, 311, 312, 315 spatial variations 191; see also Geographical Information Systems (GIS) species diversity 10–11, 13, 236 Starmer, C. 82, 88

stated preference approaches 10–11, 24, 59 bias in 11, 135
combined with revealed preference approach 13
advantages of 165
see also perceptions versus objective measures of environmental quality in combined revealed and stated preference models of environmental valuation

GIS applied to 215–16 see also choice modelling (CM); contingent valuation method (CVM) substitute availability maps, GIS-generated 208–11 substitution effects, Hicksian compensated 102, 113–18, 119 Superfund litigation 299, 317 surfing beaches 244, 254, 256, 257, 261, 262

Swait, J. 65, 165, 166, 168, 177, 187

TCM, see travel cost models (TCM) temporal reliability tests 25 time expenditure function 289 time price 290–91
Tobit models 25, 29, 31–4
Train, K.E. 61, 241, 247, 249, 263–4, 274, 300
transportation 125, 165
time valuation in 4, 6, 12, 44, 81, 118, 145, 171, 197, 226, 251, 303–4, 313
visit origin definitions in 196, 197, 200–206, 214, 215, 226
zonal 3
trees
ages 15, 225, 229–30, 232–6 species 15, 224, 225, 227–36 trusts, mountain areas owned by 42, 46–7, 51, 63

two-constraint demand systems 288–90, 296

UK Census 202, 211
UK Forest Service 144, 154, 156, 159–60, 161
UK Forestry Commission 1, 207, 211 uncertainty, see risk, incorporated into demand for rock climbing US Forest Service 1, 22
US National Park Service (NPS) 22

vector data model 192–4 Viscusi, W.K. 88
visit origin, definition of, in travel cost studies 196, 197, 200–206, 214, 215, 226
visitor arrivals function, GIS-based transfer of 207–14
voluntary fund mechanism 27–8, 35 voluntary registration systems 221, 225–6
VRGIS 215–16

Wald test 34
Wales, GIS-generated visitor arrivals function for forest sites in 207–8, 209
walk-in time 42–5, 47, 49–56, 62, 65, 68, 71
walk-only visits 215
water-based recreation 5, 62
GIS-based benefit transfer studies of 211–13
modelling demand for reservoir recreation using MNL and mixed logit models 15–16, Ch. 13
white-water boating 92, 93, 94 see also trout fishing, recreational, estimating damages to, in Montana
water quality improvements 2, 5, 8 WTP for 9, 10
water reallocation policy issues 274–5 weather conditions 124, 126–7, 130
Weibull distribution 61, 127, 147, 222, 245, 247
weighting of likelihoods 167, 177–8 welfare measurement problems arising from use of perceptions data 15, 167, 182–4, 185, 186 whale migration 280, 290
whalewatching demand and value 12, 16, Ch. 14
white-water boating 92, 93, 94 wilderness parks, demand functions for visits to 101 wildlife habitat 225, 231, 236 wildlife management, uncertainty associated with 92 Wildlife Management Units (WMU) 168–71, 179, 180 effect of closing one site 183–4, 185, 186 wildlife sites, disruption of 40–41 willingness to accept (WTA) 143 willingness to pay (WTP) assumptions underlying 7–8 averaged across individuals 8, 269
definition of 7
elicitation formats affecting 24, 35 expected maximum when elements of error term characterized by GEV 271–2 expected WTP for absence of injuries 300, 315–16 sensitivity of 316–17
Hicksian measures of, see compensating variation (CV); equivalent variation (EV) per trip measures of 8, 12, 101–2, 114, 119, 150, 151, 154, 155, 156, 157, 183–4, 222, 223, 231–5, 295, 296 for quality changes 9, 10, 269 revealed preference approaches to estimating, see revealed preference approaches; travel cost models (TCM) scope tests on 13–14, 22, 25–6, 31, 33, 34, 35–6 stated preference approaches to estimating, see choice modelling (CM); contingent valuation method (CVM); stated preference approaches Tobit models applied to 25, 29, 31–4 under uncertainty, see option price (OP) zero-valued responses 25, 26, 28–9, 31 see also consumer’s surplus Willis, K.G. 10, 204
Wright, R.E. 14, 61
X-rated climbing routes 77, 79–80, 82, 83, 86, 89–90
Yen, S.T. 13
Zeiler, M. 192
zonal travel cost models 3