Tables and box

TABLES

2.1 Emerging trends in the organization and management of the IS function 34
2.2 Typical climate surrounding the IS/IT function in large organizations 36
3.1 Evolution of views in the cognitive sciences 55
3.2 Evolutionary levels of self-referential (social) systems 64
4.1 Differences between the notions of tacit and explicit knowledge 79
4.2 A comparative model of culture 83
4.3 The three-dimensional organization: concurring views from the literature 89
5.1 The historical search for organizational effectiveness 102
5.2 The resource-based approach compared with the neo-classical school of business economics 109
6.1 Perspectives on the implementation of information systems 130
6.2 IS/IT Infusion and Diffusion 135
7.1 Organizational context dimensions 170
7.2 IS/IT context dimension: IS/IT intent 173
7.3 IS/IT context dimension: IS/IT-related discipline 178
7.4 IS/IT context dimension: IS/IT-related trust 180
7.5 IS/IT context dimension: IS/IT-related support 181
7.6 IS/IT context dimension: IS/IT-related structural factors 184
8.1 IS/IT targets 193
8.2 Managerial processes for IS/IT strategic development 200
8.3 Characterizing the final outcome of ISSD, i.e. a move towards higher levels of IS/IT-related organizational maturity and learning 215
9.1 The current turn in the managerial paradigm 223

BOX

3.1 Autopoietic systems 57