Assembly of European Regions, www.are-regions-europe.org.

Bhagwati, Jagdish (2002), ‘Coping with antiglobalization,’ Foreign Affairs, 81 (1).

Brooks, Janet Rae (2003), ‘Turin sees its olympic moment as investment in future,’ Salt Lake Tribune, 10 March.

Buchanan, Patrick J. (2002), The Death of the West, New York: St Martin’s.

Cheshire, Paul (1990), ‘Explaining the recent performance of the European Community’s major urban regions,’ Urban Studies, 27 (6), 311–33.

Chicago Tribune (2002), 21 July.

Clark, William V. and Sarah A. Blue (2004), ‘Race, class, and segregation

Clarkson, Stephen (2002), Uncle Sam and Us: Globalization, Neoconservativism, and the Canadian State, Toronto: University of Toronto Press.

DiGaetano, Alan and John S. Klemanski (1999), Power and City Governance, Minneapolis: University of Minnesota Press.

Dreier, Peter, John Mollenkopf and Todd Swanstrom (2001), Place Matters:

Eurocities Mayors’ Declaration (2002), Brussels: Eurocities, 29 November.

Fenn, W. Michael (2003), ‘Emerging trends in urban affairs – A municipal manager’s view,’ in Andrew, Graham and Philips (eds), Urban Affairs.

Financial Times, various issues.

Gil Canalete, Carlos, Pedro Pascual Arzoz and Manuel Rapún Gárate (2004), ‘Regional economic disparities and decentralisation,’ Urban Studies, 41 (1).

Globe and Mail (2003), 4 December.

Haberman, Martin (2003), ‘Who benefits from failing urban school districts?’ EducationNews.org, March.

Hodge, Gerald and Ira M. Robinson (2001), Planning Canadian Regions, Vancouver: University of British Columbia Press.

International Herald Tribune (2002), 13 March; (2003), 29 October.

Klinkenbour, Verlyn (2003), ‘Trying to measure the amount of information that humans create,’ New York Times, 12 November.

Kresl, Peter Karl and Pierre-Paul Proulx (2000), ‘Montreal’s place in the urban response to internationalization’
Madden, Janice Fanning (2003), ‘The changing spatial concentration of in-Milwaukee Journal Sentinel (2003), 11 December.
National Post (2002), 28 September.

Pengfei, Ni (ed.) (2003a), Blue Book of City Competitiveness No. 1, Report on Chinese Urban Competitiveness, Beijing: Chinese Academy of Social Sciences.
Pittsburgh Post-Gazette (2003), 4 December.
Planning and Development Department (1992), Master Plan of Policies, Detroit: City of Detroit.
Rocky Mountain News (2001), 31 March.

San Diego Union-Tribune (2003), 24 June.

Statistics Canada (2001), census data.

Statistics Canada (2002), census data.

Toronto Star (2003), 13 December.

Uldrich, Jack (2002), ‘Why nanotechnology will arrive sooner than expected,’ Futurist (March–April).

UN Department of Economic and Social Affairs, Population Division (2001),
UN Department of Economic and Social Affairs, Population Division (2002),
UN Development Program (2000), Human Development Report.
UN-Habitat 2001, press release, 4 June.
Urban Studies (1999), 36 (5/6), May.
USA Today (2002), 17 December.
US Department of Commerce (2002), census data.
Van den Berg, Leo, Erik Braun and Willem van Winden (2001), Growth Clusters in European Metropolitan Cities, Aldershot, UK: Ashgate.
Ville de Lyon, ‘Partner cities,’ www.marie-lyon.fr/international/villes_partenaires.
Wessel, David (2004), ‘If a city isn’t sunny – and air conditioned – it should be smart,’ Wall Street Journal, 26 February.
YaleGlobal (2003), 30 January.