
Figures

4.1	Heterogeneous causal effect estimates	43
5.1	Twentieth century infant mortality decline in various regions of the world	49
5.2	The increase in height of adult men in the US from 1720 to 1990	51
5.3	Scatterplot of log DPT3 vaccinated children plotted against the log of grand total vaccination costs for 43 countries	57
7.1	Trends in obesity and BMI for US adult males, 1976–2001	73
7.2	Trends in US calorie consumption, 1910–2000	74
15.1	Unofficial payments and monopoly provision	157
16.1	Schematic outline of globalization and health	165
17.1	Oaxaca decomposition	184
17.2	Oaxaca-type decompositions of difference in mean height-for-age z-scores between non-poor and poor children, Vietnam 1998	185
17.3	Estimated distributions of height-for-age z-scores, children <10 years, Vietnam 1993 and 1998	188
19.1	Poorest quintiles' shares of public health subsidy by category of care	210
19.2	Richest quintiles' shares of public health subsidy by category of care	210
19.3	Share of households with out of pocket expenses (OOPs) share of total household expenditures > 10 per cent and OOPs share of total health financing	213
20.1	Public, private and total health expenditures in 2000 for large high-income OECD countries	222
29.1	Spending of DCA in the United States	307
33.1	Indifference to health quality at short durations	352
33.2	Maximal endurable time	353
45.1	Costs and effects of interventions for reducing alcohol and tobacco use	481
45.2	Cost-effectiveness isoquants for selected risk factor and disease interventions	485
46.1	Improvements in technical efficiency versus increases in the resource use	493
46.2	Incremental costs and benefits of a new programme	494
46.3	Indivisibilities and non-constant returns to scale	496
48.1	Cost-effectiveness acceptability curve	516
48.2	Population EVPI	519
48.3	EVPI for parameters	521
48.4	EVSI, ENBS and optimal sample size	523
49.1	Mappings from states to outcomes	529
49.2	First and second order uncertainty and the joint distribution of costs and effects	532
49.3	Effects of non-ignorable unobservables	533