

Contributors

Marcelo Nogueira Camargos

Marcelo Camargos is a Brazilian environmental lawyer. He holds a Master's degree in International Law and Environmental Law at the Catholic University of Santos, and was the recipient of a scholarship from the Coordination for the Improvement of Higher Level Education (CAPES). He specialises in protected areas, traditional populations and cultural heritage law.

Fernanda de Salles Cavedon

Fernanda de Salles Cavedon is Environmental Law Professor and researcher at the Universidade do Vale do Itajaí – UNIVALI, Brazil and a Master and Doctor in Juridical Science at UNIVALI. She is a PhD candidate in Environmental Law in the Environmental Law Doctoral Program of the University of Alicante, Spain. She has published a wide range of books, book chapters and articles on environmental law.

Miriam Alfie Cohen

Miriam Alfie Cohen holds a PhD in Social Sciences from the Universidad Iberoamericana, Campus Santa Fe, Mexico City. Her work revolves around governance, environmental risk, environmental movements and democracy. She is a Research Professor of the Department of Social Sciences, Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana-Cuajimalpa, and is at Level II within the National System of Researchers in Mexico.

José Augusto Fontoura Costa

José Augusto Fontoura Costa is a Professor in Environmental Law at the University of São Paulo, Santos Catholic University and the State University of Amazonas in Brazil.

Arlindo Daibert

Arlindo Daibert holds a JD from the State of Rio de Janeiro University Law School and an LLM in Environmental Law from Pace University School of Law, NY, USA. He is Senior Partner of the Escritório Daibert de Advocacia (law firm), in the City of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil and an Attorney at the City of Rio de Janeiro Attorney General's Office.

Javier de Cendra de Larragán

Javier de Cendra is an energy and environmental lawyer at the UCL Energy Institute. He completed a first degree in law and economics, after which he gained an LLM in international, European and comparative energy and environmental law. His PhD thesis undertook a fundamental legal analysis of EU climate change law and policy and the way in which benefits and costs of climate mitigation measures have been distributed among countries, among economic sectors and within sectors.

Adrián de Garay Sánchez

Adrián de Garay Sánchez holds a PhD in Anthropology from the Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana, Mexico City. He is a Research Professor of the Department of Sociology Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana-Azcapotzalco, and is at Level II within the National System of Researchers in Mexico.

Joseph W. Dellapenna

Joseph Dellapenna is a Professor of Law at Villanova University School of Law where his scholarly interests focus on water management and on international and comparative law. His writings in the water law field include Waters and Water Rights (2001) (co-author), a leading reference work on water law in the United States. He has served as Rapporteur for the Water Resources Committee of the International Law Association with the charge of redrafting the Helsinki Rules on transboundary water management in light of subsequent developments in international water law and international environmental law. He has also acted as consultant to numerous private parties and foreign governments.

Anél du Plessis

Anél du Plessis is an Associate Professor at the Faculty of Law, North-West University (Potchefstroom Campus), South Africa. She holds a BA in Law from Potchefstroom University for Christian Higher Education, and an LLM and LLD from North-West University. She lectures in administrative law, law of delict, law of contract, legal pluralism and property law. Anél's doctoral thesis was on the fulfilment of the constitutional environmental right in the local sphere of government. Her research interests focus on environmental, human rights and local government law. She is the assistant editor of the Potchefstroom Electronic Law Journal. Anél is a member of the IUCN Academy's Governance Committee.

Willemien du Plessis

Willemien du Plessis is a Professor of Law at North-West University (Potchefstroom Campus) South Africa. She holds B Jur, LLB, LLD and MA in Environmental Management degrees from the Potchefstroom University for Christian Higher Education. She teaches in the areas of environmental law, land and land registration law, legal history, foundations of South African law, property law and South African environmental law. Her research interests include environmental rights and governance, comparative environmental law, comparative constitutional law, local government law, development law, human rights law and property law. Willemien is the co-chair for the IUCN Academy's Research Committee.

José Juan González

José Juan González is a Professor of Environmental Law at the Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana, Mexico. He is a fellow of the Mexican National System of Researchers, and has published a number of treatises in the field of environmental law. From 1992 to 1996 he was the Chief of the Legal Office of the General Attorney's Office for Environmental Protection. He has collaborated as external adviser for the Commission for Environmental Cooperation, the Inter-American Development Bank, the United Nations Environment Programme, the United Nations Development Programme and the World Meteorological Organization. He is a member of the IUCN Academy's Governing Board.

David Hodas

David Hodas is a Professor of Law of Widener University School of Law, at Widener's Delaware campus. He holds a BA from Williams College, a JD from Boston University School of Law in 1976 and an LLM in Environmental Law from Pace University. He teaches and writes in the areas of environmental law, climate change law, administrative law, constitutional law, international environmental law and sustainable energy law. He was a member of the Governing Board of the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law from 2008 to 2010.

Emmanuel Kasimbazi

Emmanuel Kasimbazi is a Senior Lecturer at the Faculty of Law, Makerere University as well as a legal consultant and advocate. He holds an LLM from the University of Calgary, Canada and a PhD from the University of Kwazulu-Natal, Durban, South Africa. He teaches Environmental Law and Policy at both undergraduate and postgraduate level. He has consulted for a number of international and national agencies.

Robert Kibugi

Robert Kibugi is a Tutorial Fellow at the School of Law, University of Nairobi, currently on leave to pursue doctoral studies at the Faculty of Law, University of Ottawa, Canada, where he is also a part-time professor. He is an advocate of the High Court of Kenya and holds LLB and LLM degrees from the University of Nairobi. His scholarship in environmental law focuses on sustainability in land use, integration of sustainability, poverty and food security issues, land management and access to environmental justice.

Flavia Rocha Loures

Flavia Rocha Loures holds a JD from the University of Paraná in Brazil, and an LLM with a focus on international groundwater law from Vermont Law School, USA. She is currently a Senior Program Officer working on international water law and policy at the World Wide Fund for Nature in Washington DC.

Nicola Lugaresi

Nicola Lugaresi is an Associate Professor of Law at the University of Trento Law School. His fields of research expertise include administrative law, environmental law and water law. He teaches in these areas at undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Karen Morrow

Karen Morrow is a Professor of Environmental Law in the School of Law, Swansea University. She holds an LLB from Queen's University of Belfast and an LLM from King's College London. She is an editorial board member of the Environmental Law Review and a co-editor of the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law e-Journal. Her research interests cover environmental law and policy and the law and policy of sustainable development, encapsulating domestic, EU and international dimensions and the interplay between them.

Charles Odidi Okidi

Charles Odidi Okidi is Director of the Centre for Advanced Studies in Environmental Law and Policy (CASELAP) at the University of Nairobi. His areas of specialization include environmental law; legal and policy issues in transboundary resources; marine and coastal resources; institutional and policy arrangements for natural resources management; environmental education; public international law; international and comparative environmental law and policy; international water policy and law; law of the sea; and law and development.

Alexander Paterson

Alexander Paterson holds BSocSci, LLB and LLM degrees from the University of Cape Town, where he is an Associate Professor. He lectures in environmental law at both undergraduate and postgraduate level. Prior to joining the Institute, he practised as an environmental attorney and worked as an environmental consultant. He has also worked in the NGO sector, monitoring the progression of environmental legislation through Parliament. His areas of legal research include biodiversity, protected areas and incentive-based regulation. He is co-editor of the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law e-Journal and assistant editor of the South African Journal of Environmental Law and Policy.

Nicholas A. Robinson

Nicholas Robinson is the Gilbert and Sarah Kerlin Distinguished Professor of Environmental Law at Pace University School of Law, New York, USA. He served as Deputy Chair and then Chair of the IUCN Commission on Environmental Law. He was the founding Chair of the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law. He has worked on the development of environmental law since 1969, when he was named to the Legal Advisory Committee of the President's Council on Environmental Quality. He founded Pace's environmental law programs, and is the author of several books and many articles. He teaches a range of environmental law courses. In 2009, the Pace University Board of Trustees conferred on him the position of University Professor for the Environment for his significant contribution to scholarship in the field of environmental law, both in the USA and abroad.

Werner Scholtz

Werner Scholtz obtained his doctorate in law at Leiden University, The Netherlands in 2001. He is a Professor of Law at the Potchefstroom Campus of North-West University, South Africa and a Research Associate at the South African Institute for Advanced Constitutional, Public, Human Rights and International Law. His recent research focuses on the issues of global environmental security, sovereignty and global environmental degradation.

Fernanda Sola

Fernanda holds an LLB from the Law School of Sorocaba and a Master in Environmental Law from the Catholic University of Santos in Brazil. She is a Professor in Environmental Law at the São Carlos Federal University at the Sorocaba Campus. She has been engaged in a research project 'Law, Natural Resources and Environmental Conflicts: The Amazon Cooperation Treaty.' Her interests include environmental law, shared management of water resources, administrative law and international environmental law.

Ricardo Stanziola Vieira

Ricardo Stanziola Vieira is an Environmental Law Professor and researcher at the Universidade do Vale do Itajaí – UNIVALI, Brazil and holds Master in Law and Doctor in Human Science degrees from the Federal University of Santa Catarina, Brazil. He undertook a postdoctoral programme in the Centre de Recherches Interdisciplinaires en Droit de l'Environnement, de l'Aménagement et de l'Urbanisme (CRIDEAU) at the University of Limoges, France.

Mekete Bekele Tekle

Mekete Bekele Tekle is an Assistant Professor of Law, School of Law of Addis Ababa University, Ethiopia. He holds an LLB from Addis Ababa University and an LLM from the University of Nairobi, Kenya. He teaches environmental law, law of taxation, law of succession and property law. His research interests focus on environmental law and in particular biodiversity and biotechnology law. He has published in law journal articles and book chapters in a number of countries.

Solange Teles da Silva

Solange is a Brazilian environmental lawyer, who obtained her PhD at the University of Paris 1, Panthéon-Sorbonne. She is a Professor of Law at the State University of Amazonas in Manaus and at Mackenzie University in São Paulo. She is the coordinator of research groups on sustainable development and law, and law, natural resources and environmental conflicts. She is the International Director of Law for a Green Planet, Director of Publications at the Institute of Law and Citizenship Studies Brazil, Associate Editor of Fundação Getúlio Vargas Law Review and a member of the Research Committee of the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law. Solange has been a visiting professor at Valencia University in Spain, University of Paris-Sud in France and Georgia State University in the United States.