

Contents

List of figures and tables	vii
List of contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction	1
Steven Kates
1 Been there done that: the political economy of déjà vu Peter J. Boettke, Daniel J. Smith and Nicholas A. Snow	14
2 Traditional monetary economics vs Keynesianism, creditism and base-ism Tim Congdon	46
3 Can a progressive capital gains tax help avoid the next crisis? Public sector governance in a comprehensive neo-Schumpeterian system Horst Hanusch and Florian Wackermann	57
4 The Great Recession and its aftermath from a monetary equilibrium theory perspective Steven G. Horwitz and William J. Luther	75
5 Policy in the absence of theory: the coming world of political economy without Keynes Steven Kates	93
6 Hindsight on the origins of the global financial crisis? Steve Keen	111
7 Four theses on the global financial crisis J.E. King	126
8 Monetary policies during the financial crisis: an appraisal Mervyn K. Lewis	138
9 After the crash of 2008: financial reform in an age of plutocracy Robert E. Prasch	154

10	The new institutional economics and the global financial crisis Martin Ricketts	169
11	Economics in the mirror of the financial crisis Rodolfo Signorino	182
12	Human resources: the key to institutional economics after the Great Recession Charles J. Whalen	204
13	What should a financial system do? Minskian lessons from the global financial crisis L. Randall Wray	218
	Index	237