Acknowledgements

Many people have had an input into this manuscript and offered advice, encouragement and guidance along the way. I am grateful to Barry Barton, Kate Bjork, Al Gillespie, Raja Goonesekere and Arjun Guneratne who read drafts and provided helpful criticisms on various aspects of the book as it gradually evolved. Any shortcomings which remain are, of course entirely my own responsibility.

I thank the many friends, both within and outside Sri Lanka whose affection and support have seen me through the time it took me to produce this manuscript. I would also like to record my appreciation of my lawyer friends in Sri Lanka, particularly Jagath Gunewardena and Ruana Rajepakse, who have over the past two decades spent much of their time and energy in litigating public interest cases on issues of environment and development, human rights and justice. The cases they have fought have contributed in no small measure to ensuring equitable and sustainable development in Sri Lanka in many spheres.

Last, but not least, I thank Savitri Goonesekere for being a guide and role model and for giving me many years of mentoring, friendship and support.

I dedicate this book to my mother, Erica Guneratne, and to the memory of my father, Upali Ananda Guneratne.