This manuscript collects the findings of an exploratory workshop funded by the European Science Foundation entitled 'In/equality for Third Country Nationals: Implementation and Effects of EU Directives on Migration and Asylum' successfully convened by Dottoressa Sonia Morano-Foadi, Dr Micaela Malena and Dr Maja Cederberg on 28–30 June 2010 at Oxford Brookes University, in Oxford. We are extremely grateful to the European Science Foundation for funding the ESF workshop and contributing to the editing costs of the present volume.

We would like to thank all the participants, some of whom are authors of the book's chapters: Ms Sarah Moore (ESF, Strasbourg), Ms Madeline Garlick (UNHCR, Brussels), Mr Steven Davies (European Commission, Brussels), Mr Adriano Silvestri (FRA, Vienna), Prof Elspeth Guild (Radboud University, Nijmegen and LSE, London), Ms Susanna Mehtonen (Amnesty International, Finland), Professor Sarah Van Walsum (VU University Amsterdam), Professor Eleonore Kofman (Middlesex University), Professor Kay Hailbronner (Universitaet Konstanz), Professor Costas Papadimitriou (University of Athens), Dr Maja Cederberg (Oxford Brookes University), Dr Pieter Bevelander (Malmö University), Dr Albert Kraler (International Centre for Migration Policy Development, ICMPD), Dr Diletta Tega (Universita degli Studi di Milano-Bicocca), Dr Susan Zimmermann (Refugee Studies Centre, University of Oxford), Dr Esther Weizsaecker (Bundesministerium für Bildung und Forschung), Dr Karin de Vries (European University Institute, Florence), Mrs Katia Bianchini (University of Hamburg, Germany, and University of York, United Kingdom), Dr Moritz Jesse (University of Leiden), Dr Maria Kontos (Johann Wolfgang Goethe Universitaet), Dr Kerstin Gudermuth (Technische Universität Berlin), Dr Aino Saarinen (University of Helsinki), Dr Keith Puttick (Staffordshire University), Dr Diego Acosta (University of Sheffield), Dr Cordelia Carlitz (Federal Office of Migration and Refugees, Nuremberg, Germany), Dr Carmen Pérez González (Universidad Carlos III de Madrid).

We are indebted to a number of people who made this book possible. First of all, we would like to thank Professors Bernard Ryan, Lucy Vickers, Elspeth Guild, Sarah Van Walsum, Dora Kostakopoulou, Dr Maja

Cederberg, Maria Mousmouti, Cliodhna Murphy, Stephen Riley, Diego Acosta, Anja Wiesbrock, Thornton Liam, Lieneke Slingenberg, Mathias Moeschel, Marco Benvenuti, Nazila Ghanea-Hercock and Cordelia Carlitz for their careful reading and commentary on the chapters.

Secondly, we would like to thank Ms Lucia Brieskova, Ms Jennifer Huggins, Dr Keith Puttick, Dr Darinka Piqani and Ms Shauna Gillan for their assistance with editing and proof reading some of the chapters and Mrs Johanna Diekmann and Dr Debbie Millard with the translation of Chapter 11 from German into English, its editing and proof reading. We would also like to thank the staff at Edward Elgar Publishing, especially Mr John-Paul McDonald, Mr Ben Booth, Ms Jennifer Wilcox, Ms Jane Bayliss and Ms Rebecca Wise.

Next, we would like to express our gratitude to the School of Law, Oxford Brookes University for the support given during the last year, providing funds for Dr Micaela Malena's stay in Oxford and granting a period of study leave to Dottoressa Sonia Morano-Foadi. Special thanks go to Professor Meryll Dean Head of Law School, Professor Diana Woodhouse formerly Pro Vice-Chancellor for Research and Knowledge Transfer at Oxford Brookes University and Professor Derek Elsom, former Pro Vice-Chancellor and Dean of the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences for having contributed to the opening sessions of the workshop. We also wish to thank Nadée, who authorized the use of her painting's image for the cover.

Planning this volume has been as challenging as writing it. The proposal was drafted while visiting the Centre for Bahá'í Studies in Acuto, Italy, which is situated in the hills near Rome. The editors of the book were inspired by the beautiful setting and the spiritual atmosphere of this magical place.

On a more personal level, we thank our families, who have assisted and encouraged us in this endeavour.
