Index

Behavioural strategies to support climate change resilience 79–95 behavioural economics, and 84 community-based social marketing 86–9 commitment, seeking 87
incentives 89
prompts 87–8
social norms 88–9
toolkit 86–7
underlying philosophy 86 complementary instruments 85 complementary mechanisms within regulatory strategy 84–5 environmental taxation instruments 80–85 factual interventions 83 first best instruments 79 instrument choice 83–5 ‘instrument choice’ debate 91 instrumental myopia 83 micro-level 90
political economy 80–82
Henry Review, and 81–2
Schroeder on 82
self-interest 82
Portland, Oregon, community strategy 89–90 non-market 79
studies on instrument choice 84 Border tax adjustments 198–215 changes in GDP compared with case of no reduction 212 changes in market shares of imported steel products 213 changes in output levels compared with 2005 levels 211 CGE analysis 198–215 emissions trading scheme in Japan 199
Japan 198–215

price of emission permit 213 share of countries importing from 2001 in 2008 201
simulation results 210–13 simulation scenarios 208–10 structure of household consumption and investment 209 top global steel-producing companies in 2005 and 2008 202

Cap and trade system 35–44 action, necessity for 36–40 carbon tax compared 35–44 criteria 38
environmental policy, and 41 interactions between cap-and-trade system and other policy instruments 9–15 impacts on CO₂ emissions 10–11 impacts on economic efficiency 13 impacts on energy security 12 impacts on future caps in medium to long term 13–14 impacts on other types of emissions 13 IPCC, and 36
Kyoto Protocol, and 36–7 premise of 37
regulation by market 37 scientific data, and 36 sub-par results 38
time to establish 38
Carbon-related taxation in OECD countries 3–18 carbon-related taxation of motor vehicles 6–7 carbon taxes 5–6
one-off motor vehicle taxes 7 Environmental taxation and climate change recurrent motor vehicle taxes 7–9 tax per tonne CO₂ emitted over vehicle’s lifetime 9 tax per vehicle as function of CO₂ emissions 7 tax per year as function of vehicles’ CO₂ emissions 8 tax rates per tonne CO₂ 6 taxes on petrol and diesel 3–5

Carbon tax

Cap and trade system compared see Cap and trade system effectiveness 39 effectiveness 39 energy research, and 42
environmental policy, and 41
fuel-efficient automobiles 40 gasoline prices 40–41
implementation 39
participation, and 39 potential for stimulation of economy 39–40 tax incentives for United States 40–42

Clean Development Mechanism (CDM) 183–97 buildings in China 183
built environment, and 183–97
choice of baselines, and 192 complexities of building sector 189 countries with limited experience 192–3 effect 189
energy savings in built environment, and 184 expanding 191–3
built environment, and 193–4 energy saving targets for end-users 194 lack of available data 193 limitations 188–9
marginal reforms to 190 recommendations to reduce energy consumption in built environment of developing countries 194–7 Copenhagen Accord 2009 195 international climate change negotiations, and 194 NAMAs, and 195

reformed, role within comprehensive regulatory mix 190–94 SNLT, and 191–2
theoretical approaches to reducing energy consumption in building sector 184–7 barriers to energy savings 185 complexity of building sector 185–7 general recommendations 187 market changes 186–7

WBCSD report 186–7
Coal mining 129–43
Appalachians 132
carbon 129–30
coal formation 129–30
peat 130
coal production 130–31
mountaintop removal 131, 132 seams 130–31
underground mining 131
federal laws 134–5
higher coal prices, and 140 Internal Revenue Code, and 139 laws do not prevent environmental degradation 135–7 approximate original contour 135–6 complaints 137
contractors 136
government questions, rights of 137 grassroots groups, rights of 136 legal gamesmanship 137 private citizens, rights of 136 segmentation 136
shell corporations 136
SMCRA 135–7
laws to protect environment 134–5 lost carbon sink tax 139–40 methods 129
negative environmental impact 140–41 neglected environmental threat 129–43 plants and animals, effects on 132–3 reclamation does not restore the environment 137–8 non-native species, use of 137–8 SMCRA, and 137
waterways 138
Environmental tax reforms  19–34 aggregate impacts on GDP and employment 23 change in household income by quintile 28 COMETR 20–22
definition 20
EEA Project 26–9
economic results 23–4
effect on GDP 21
effect on GHG emissions 22 effects on tax-to-GDP ratios of selected EU member states 25 employment, and 26–7
equity implications, and 27–9 implications 19–34
innovation, and 26–7
key findings of recent projects in assessing 20–30 PETRE project 22–3
potential in current policy debate 30–32 public policy package, and 19 revenue recycling 24–6 revenue stability 24–6
UK Green Fiscal Commission 29–30

Environmental taxation 63–78 available measures 64–8
carbon taxes 65
command-control regulatory measures 66–7 current approaches 69–73 design issues 75
double-dividend 73
economic instruments 64–6 effluent charges 65–6
employment, and 73
French review 73
German review 73
negative paradigm 76
negotiated agreements 68 ‘optimum’ standard 67
polluter-pays-principle 69–70 public voluntary programs 68 reform 72–3
regulations 66–7
comparative costs 66
punitive nature of 67
revenue-neutral 72
Environmental taxation and climate change

- Forest carbon 150–65
  - carbon sink forestry initiatives, challenges for 160–61
  - comparing Australian and New Zealand approaches 159–60
  - forest incentives in Australia 153–6
  - ATO, and 154
  - CPRS 153
    - federal level: carbon sink establishment deductions 153–4
    - forestry incentives at state level 155–6
    - NSW GGAS 155–6
    - proposals under CPRS 154–5
    - forestry incentives in New Zealand 156–9
    - Afforestation Grant Scheme 158–9
    - NZ ETS 157
    - Permanent Forest Sink Initiative 157–8
    - forestry, role of 151–3
    - forests as carbon risks 151
    - global markets 151–2
    - global offset market 152
    - market mechanisms for forestry 152–3
    - market mechanisms, use to bolster 150–65
    - REDD mechanism 150

- Gasoline demand reaction 169–82
  - correlation between gaspc and gdppc 174
  - correlation between gaspc and tr 175
  - correlation between gaspc and trpr 175
  - data processing 181–2
  - databases 172
  - estimation 172–5, 176–80
  - international panel data analysis 169–82
  - result of log-linear specification 178–9
  - results of linear specification 179–80
  - signaling effect of tax 169
  - specification of tax effect 170–72
  - tax elasticity, and 169–70
  - tax rates on gasoline 173
  - test of endogeneity 176–7

- Great Lakes 144–9
  - collaboration strategy 145
  - collaborative process 145–6
  - effectiveness of restoration programs 147–8
  - funding 146–7
  - GLRC 146
  - improvement in water quality 147–8
  - Protection Fund 146–7
  - restoration programs 144–9
  - US legislation 144–5
  - water levels 144
  - water quality 144–9

- Innovative taxation strategies 47–62
  - cap-and-trade regimes 50–51
    - design 50
    - principles 50
    - shortcomings 51
    - carbon heavens 47
    - carbon leakage 47
    - categories of environmental taxes 48
    - challenges during present interim period 57–9
    - problem of compatibility with WTO law 58–9
Index

unilateral border tax regime 57–8 development of new strategies 51–9 environmental tax, definition 48 extension of OECD Model Tax Convention 52–4

carbon tax shaped as income tax 52–3

extension to non-OECD countries 53–4

non-discrimination principle 53 international feasibility 59–60

national carbon taxes 49–50

design 49

principles 49

shortcomings 49–50

newly developed international taxation regimes 55–7 agreement on preferred pricing mechanism 55

carbon sequestration credit system 55–6

carbon tax as consumption tax combined with system of financial transfers 56–7

hybrid system 56

social costs, and 47–8

supporting climate change resilience 47–62

traditional tax instruments 48–51

national carbon taxes 49–50

Italy

land management and local taxation see Land management and local taxation in Italy

Japan

border tax adjustments, and 198–215

changes in volume of steel production, exports and imports 200

competitive concerns of carbon-intensive sectors 199–208

international competitiveness concerns of iron and steel sectors 214

share of countries exporting to in 2008 201

Land management and local taxation

in Italy 111–25

construction charges 113–15

land market and public intervention 112–13

marginal social cost 112

urban planning, and 113

zoning 112–13

lessening problems of territorial competition 122–3

link between urban planning and local budget revenues 122

pigouvian tax 123

policy overlapping 111

proposed repeal of construction charge 122

urban taxes and territory agreement 115–21

aim of construction charge 115 capital expenditure coverage through construction charges 117

construction charges 115, 116

construction charges, ICI and building cycle 118–19

metropolitan areas 119

municipal debt 120

preservation of agricultural lands 121

soil consumption 120–21

tax base sharing 119–20 territorial competition 119–20

urbanization of land 121

Taxing land rents 99–110

centrifugal forces of sprawl development 100

challenges of public administration 100

efficacy of public programs 99

‘frozen capital’ 106

Gilbert Tucker on 107

Henry George Theorem 107 investment and development, and 102

land rent in a modern economy 106–108
Environmental taxation and climate change

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Land values, tax on</th>
<th>Von Thunen on</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>101–102</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Natural resource rents, taxation of</td>
<td>other elements of nature, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>103–106</td>
<td>107–108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Capitalized transportation costs</td>
<td>percentage of GDP</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>103</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Enclosure movement</td>
<td>poorly conceived public policies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>104–105</td>
<td>100–101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flow of ground rents through locations</td>
<td>sound tax theory, and</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>104</td>
<td>102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forms of rent</td>
<td>sustainability, for</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>105</td>
<td>99–110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>‘Great land goals’</td>
<td>tax principles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>104–105</td>
<td>102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Infrastructure costs</td>
<td>trivialization of land as factor of production</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>104</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Site rent</td>
<td>UGBs</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>103</td>
<td>100–101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unearned increment</td>
<td>urban livability, for</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>104</td>
<td>99–110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Usufruct ownership</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>105</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>