Acknowledgements

I thank the publishers and copyright holders listed here for their permission to reprint the excerpts indicated.

Fagan, Frank, After the sunset: The residual effect of temporary legislation. European Journal of Law and Economics. Copyright © 2011 Springer Publishing Company, Frank Fagan. Reprinted with permission.

Fagan, Frank and Faure, Michael, Response: The role of lawmakers, lobbyists, and interest groups in the normative evaluation of timing rules. 160 University of Pennsylvania Law Review, PENNumbra 61 (2011). Copyright © 2011 Frank Fagan, Michael Faure. Reprinted with permission.

I also thank the European Commission, and its support of the European Doctorate in Law and Economics, through which a portion of this work benefitted. Lastly, I thank the scholars who helped shape this book: Firat Bilgel for his discussions on temporary legislation and his specific contribution to the empirical analysis of chapter 6; David Herring for his discussions on temporary tax legislation and his guidance with respect to the development of chapter 5; Urme Khan for her contribution to the theoretical model developed in chapter 2; and especially Michael Faure, Luigi Franzoni, and Francesco Parisi for providing general guidance and criticism throughout the development of the ideas contained within this book.