Acknowledgments

This book draws on a decade of writings since the publication of my book The Political Economy of the Environment in 2002. I have benefited greatly during this time from the knowledge and insights of the co-authors with whom I collaborated on earlier versions of several of these chapters: Manuel Pastor (Chapters 3 and 4), Robert Bullard, Alice Fothergill, Rachel Morello-Frosch and Beverly Wright (Chapter 3), Michael Ash, Grace Chang, Justin Scoggins and Jennifer Tran (Chapter 4), Jane d’Arista (Chapter 5), Matthew Riddle (Chapters 6 and 7) and Mark Brenner (Chapter 7).

I am grateful to Dorothy Andersen and the late Alfred Andersen for creating the Fair Sharing of the Common Heritage Award and to the Media Freedom Foundation and Project Censored for honoring me as its first recipient in 2011. Chapter 1, based on my acceptance speech, offers an ethical foundation for the remainder of the book.

I am also grateful to Peter Barnes, Doris Ober, Richard Kirshman and the Mesa Refuge for their generous hospitality in Point Reyes Station, California, where this book was completed.

I thank my research assistants, Leila Davis and Alexis Doyle, for their help in preparing the manuscript; Alan Sturmer of Edward Elgar Publishing for his patience and support; and my wonderful colleagues at the Department of Economics and Political Economy Research Institute at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, whose commitment to freedom of economic thought has made this my ideal intellectual home.

Finally, I want to thank the many people across the world whose daily struggles to defend our common right to a clean and safe environment are a source of constant inspiration.