Contributors

Dr T.G. Agitha is Associate Professor, Government Law College, Ernakulam, Kerala, India, on working arrangements at the Inter University Centre for Intellectual Property Studies, Cochin University of Science and Technology, Kerala. She is co-author of a book on intellectual property rights (IPR) and has published several research papers in this area.

Michael Birnhaack is Professor of Law at the Faculty of Law, Tel-Aviv University, Israel, and an Associate Research Fellow at the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies, University of London. He studies and writes about information law, and especially copyright, privacy, and freedom of expression. He is the author of Colonial Copyright: Intellectual Property in Mandate Palestine (Oxford University Press, 2012). He has also taught at George Washington University, Melbourne University, and UCLA School of Law. He earned his LLB degree at Tel-Aviv University, and LLM and JSD at New York University School of Law.

Dianne Daley is an attorney-at-law, and one of the founding partners of the Foga Daley practice in Kingston, Jamaica, where she is head of the firm’s Intellectual Property Department. Her principal practice areas include transactional IP rights, IP rights acquisition and IP portfolio management in the areas of trademarks, designs, copyright and related rights and patents. Dianne is a CIDA scholar and holds a Master’s Degree in Comparative Law from McGill University with IP and International Copyright as areas of specialization. She is a former lecturer in Intellectual Property Law in the Master of Laws Programme at the University of the West Indies. Her professional memberships include ATRIP, INTA, the Global Advertising Lawyers Alliance (GALA) and the Jamaican Bar Association for which she chairs the Intellectual Property Committee. She is also Vice Chairman of the Jamaican Copyright Licensing Agency and author of a number of publications on Intellectual Property including a comprehensive guide on Jamaica’s Intellectual Property Laws published in the International Encyclopaedia of Laws, Kluwer Law International, (2008) and the Jamaica chapter on copyright in Copyright throughout the World edited by Silke Von Lewinski West (2009).
Ysolde Gendreau is Professor at the Faculty of Law of the Université de Montréal, Canada, since 1991 where she teaches intellectual property law and competition law. Her main field of expertise is copyright law, especially comparative and international issues. A graduate of McGill University (BCL, LLB, LLM) and of the Université de Paris II (doctorat en droit), she is a member of the Bar of Quebec. She has also taught at McGill University, Université de Paris II, Université de Paris XII, Université de Nantes, Université de Strasbourg III, Université de Lyon 2, University of Victoria (summer programme in Victoria and Oxford), University of San Diego (summer programme in Florence), and Monash University (Australia). She has published extensively, both in Canada and abroad, and among her more recent publications are contributions to two books she has edited: An Emerging Intellectual Property Paradigm – Perspectives from Canada, Edward Elgar (2008); Langues et droit d’auteur/Language and Copyright, edited with A. Drassinower, Carswell & Brussels: Bruylant (2009). She has been a member of the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board (1995–2000), President of ATRIP (Association for the Advancement of Teaching and Research in Intellectual Property) (2003–2005), and President of ALAI Canada (2006–2011). She is a member of the Executive Committee of ALAI and an associate member of the International Academy of Comparative Law.

Professor (Dr) N.S. Gopalakrishnan is presently Director of the Inter University Centre for IPR Studies and Professor of MHRD Chair on IPR, Cochin University of Science and Technology, Kerala, India. He has been a teacher for more than two decades and associated with IPR policy making in India. He has published several books and a number of research papers in different areas of IPR.

Geoff McLay has taught at Victoria University’s Faculty of Law, Wellington, New Zealand, since completing an LLM at the University of Michigan in 1994. He was appointed a Professor with effect from 1 January 2011. He is currently on leave from the university during his term as a Commissioner at the New Zealand Law Commission. He also has a BA and LLB (Hons) (First Class) from Victoria University of Wellington, and was awarded an SJD from the University of Michigan for a thesis on the history of Crown liability in 2008. In 2006 he was a visiting Professor at the University of Iowa College of Law teaching torts and advanced torts and product liability. He has also taught at the University of Western Ontario (Winter 2002). At Victoria University he has taught a wide range of undergraduate and graduate courses including torts, advanced torts, intellectual property, competition (antitrust) law, comparative constitutional law, and ethics. He has published or edited a wide range of article, papers and books.

Professor Ng-Loy Wee Loon teaches IP Law modules, including ‘International Copyright Law and Policy’, at the Faculty of Law, National University of Singapore. Outside of the university, her involvement in the IP scene includes being member of the Board of Directors of Singapore’s IP office (2000–2001); member of the Board of Governors of the IP Academy, Singapore (since 2007); and member of Singapore’s Copyright Tribunal (since 2008). Among her academic publications is the text on Law of Intellectual Property of Singapore, Sweet & Maxwell (2009 revised edition).

Tana Pistorius is Research Professor at the University of South Africa. She specializes in copyright and information technology law. Pistorius is an attorney and a notary and a senior adjudicator of the SAIPL alternate dispute resolution panel for the .za domain-name system. She is the President-Elect of the International Association for the Advancement of Teaching and Research in Intellectual Property (ATRIP). The Minister of Trade and Industry recently appointed her as a member of the South African Review Commission on Collection and Distribution of Royalties to IP Rights Owners. She is a fellow of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation.

Sam Ricketson is Professor of Law at the University of Melbourne, Australia, and, until mid-2012, also practised at the Victorian Bar in the area of intellectual property (copyright, patents, trade marks and designs). Prior to November 2000, he was the Sir Keith Aickin Professor of Commercial Law at Monash University, and before this held various positions at the Universities of Melbourne and London. He has written and published widely in the area of intellectual property, and has been the Director of Studies in Intellectual Property in the Melbourne Law Masters programme since 2001.

Uma Suthersanen is Professor in International Intellectual Property Law at the Centre for Commercial Law Studies, Queen Mary, University of London. She has degrees from the National University of Singapore, and Queen Mary, London. Her other posts include: series editor of Queen Mary Studies in Intellectual Property; editor of European Copyright and Design Reports, Vice-Chairman of the British Literary and Artistic Copyright Association; member of the Executive Committee of the Association Litteraire et Artistique Internationale (ALAI); member of the Copyright Working Group of the British Copyright Council; member of the Legal Advisory Committee of the British Computer Society; and Visiting Overseas Fellow of the Intellectual Property Academy of Singapore. She has written and published widely in the area of intellectual property.
Contributors