About the editors

Gideon Boas is an Associate Professor of the Monash Law Faculty and a Barrister. He was a Senior Legal Officer at the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY), where he was the senior adviser to the Trial Chamber in the Milošević case. He has consulted for a range of governments, including the Australian federal government and Victorian government departments, as well as the United Kingdom Foreign and Commonwealth Office. He has also consulted for international organisations and NGOs, writing briefing papers and providing training. Gideon has been pro bono legal counsel for accused war criminal Radovan Karadžić, and has provided expert advice on extradition and other matters. He has published many books, book chapters and articles on international criminal law and justice.

William A. Schabas is Professor of International Law at Middlesex University in London. He is also Professor of International Criminal Law and Human Rights at Leiden University, Professor of Human Rights Law at the National University of Ireland Galway, chairman of the Irish Centre for Human Rights, and a visiting professor at the Paris School of International Affairs (Sciences-Po). He is the author of more than 20 books and 300 journal articles, on such subjects as the abolition of capital punishment, genocide and the international criminal tribunals. Professor Schabas was a member of the Sierra Leone Truth and Reconciliation Commission. He is a president of the Irish Branch of the International Law Association and chair of the Institute for International Criminal Investigation. He is an Officer of the Order of Canada and a member of the Royal Irish Academy, and holds several honorary doctorates.

Michael P. Scharf is the John Deaver Drinko-Baker & Hostetler Professor of Law and Director of the Frederick K. Cox International Law Center at Case Western Reserve University School of Law. In February 2005, Scharf and the Public International Law and Policy Group, a non-governmental organization he co-founded and directs, were nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize by six governments and the Prosecutor of an International Criminal Tribunal for the work they have done to help in the prosecution of major war criminals, such as Slobodan Milošević, Charles Taylor, and...
Saddam Hussein. During the elder Bush and Clinton Administrations, Scharf served in the Office of the Legal Adviser of the US Department of State, where he held the positions of Attorney-Adviser for Law Enforcement and Intelligence, Attorney-Adviser for United Nations Affairs, and delegate to the United Nations Human Rights Commission. During a sabbatical in 2008, Scharf served as Special Assistant to the Prosecutor of the Cambodia Genocide Tribunal. He is the author of over 70 scholarly articles and 14 books. Since 2011, Scharf has been President of the Hague-based International Criminal Law Network.