

---

Figures

---

1.1	Four perspectives on the negotiation process	4
3.1	Social motivations categorized by weight assigned to own (vertical axis) and other's outcomes (horizontal axis)	49
4.1	Conceptual model on shared cognition and identity in negotiation	78
4.2	Relationship of mental models and outcomes in negotiation in Liu et al. (2012a)	81
8.1	Amount of research in fairness/ethics (construct) × actor/recipient (role) × bargaining/negotiation (context)	210
9.1	Examples of factors that increase negotiator role and gender role congruity for women	235
13.1	Framework for analyzing turning points	335
13.2	Turning point sequence for conflicts of interest	344
13.3	Turning point sequences for cognitive conflicts	344
13.4	Turning point sequence for value-based conflicts	344
13.5	An expanded model of turning point sequences	352
14.1	Into-the-wind strategy	377
17.1	Factors shaping the framing and outcomes of environmental negotiations	452
18.1	A schematic overview of the interpersonal skills relevant to communicating with antagonistic individuals	474