Acknowledgements

Many people contributed to this book. In addition to the co-PIs, Professor Yumin YE, Dean of the Renmin University of China's Department of Urban Planning and Management and San Francisco State University Professor Emeritus of Urban Studies and Planning, Richard LeGates, Renmin faculty were responsible for the research. Professor YE wrote Chapters 2, 3, 9.1, and 10. Professor LeGates wrote Chapters 1 and 11. Professor Qin Bo wrote Chapters 4, 8, and 9.4, Professor Lei Zhang wrote Chapters 5 and 9.3, Professor Lingqian Hu wrote Chapter 6, and Professor Jie Tong wrote Chapters 7 and 9.2. Professors YE and LeGates jointly wrote the conclusion.

Renmin University student Sophia Fay translated articles from Chinese into English and worked with Professor LeGates to help him incorporate information from them into Chapters 1 and 11, and the conclusion. Remin University students YANG Yinxue, ZHANG Xukun and LI Xia worked closely with Professor YE and translated articles and corresponding emails from English into Chinese. JIAO Yongli, LI Xiaopeng, ZHANG Yanji, and FAN Mengxue shared with us their studies of Chengdu, which were of great help for the book. TIAN Hui produced the map of Chengdu in Chapter 2. QI Bin helped in formatting the Chinese manuscript.

We specially thank the Edward Elgar Publishing staff. Edward Elgar and Matt Pittman enthusiastically supported the publication of the book. Laura Seward managed the manuscript review and book production process. Jane Bayliss served as our senior desk editor. Judith Shaw copy edited the manuscript. Emma Gribbons was in charge of marketing the book.

We would like to express sincere gratitude to officials in Chengdu Municipal Government and its county, city, and town, governments and village leadership. They helped organize tours of important sites in Chengdu, granted interviews, provided documents and photographs, and answered many questions during the course of our research. There are so many of them that we cannot name them one by one.

Nick Smith, a PhD candidate in city and regional planning at Harvard University, participated in field visits, helped with translation, and reviewed and commented on draft chapters. Fan Fan Zhao a graduate of Peking

University's Department of Urban Planning and the Cornell University Department of City and Regional Planning helped with the English language literature search. Chen Chen, a PhD from Tongji University's Department of City and Regional Planning and a post-doctoral fellow at the University of Pennsylvania helped Professor LeGates tour peri-urban areas of Shanghai and helped organize and participated in a half-day seminar at Tongji University related to urbanization and coordinated urban–rural development in China.