Acknowledgements

Many individuals – entrepreneurs, small business managers, corporate marketing executives and professors from all over the world – have made this book possible. Our special thanks to our editor, Alan Sturmer, and editorial assistant, Alison Hornbeck, for their detailed comments, suggestions and editorial assistance. Thanks go to our research assistants, Amit Ganeti, Fabienne Jolivert and Angela Wong, who provided insightful research and editorial assistance. And our utmost appreciation goes to Carol Pacelli for her research and editing, without whom this book would never have been prepared in a quality, timely manner.

This book is dedicated to our children, Kaja and Tim, representatives of the future generation, who will need their immense creativity, entrepreneurial spirit and sufficient marketing knowledge to be able to succeed in a dynamic and competitive global environment.

Maja Konečnik Ruzzier and Mitja Ruzzier

This book is dedicated to: my wife, Tina; my daughters, Kary, Katy and Kelly; my son-in-law, Rich; and my grandchildren, Rachel, Andrew, Sarah, as well as Kaiya, for their support and understanding of my time commitment in writing this book. It is to them and their generation that this book is particularly dedicated, as the world is truly global.

Robert D. Hisrich