

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Preface	viii
1 The word ‘constitution’ in western languages: how did it originate and evolve linguistically? Xu Guodong	1
2 On legal theories of public interest: an analysis based on the Need Spill theory Liu Taigang	27
3 On the ‘economized state’ in the context of economic law science Feng Hui	52
4 On the changes in the Chinese legal system for implementing WTO laws Zhang Naigen	72
5 Rethinking the NPC Standing Committee’s basic law revision power Lin Yan	93
6 How to define the discretion standard in the administrative legal system from the perspective of administrative self-restraint Zhou Youyong	106
7 The fate of the theory of the nature of social harm in contemporary China Zhao Bingzhi and Chen Zhijun	133
8 Empirical studies on the de-functionalization of criminal trial in China He Jiahong	159
9 How to define illegal financing: a critique of the judicial interpretation of illegal financing by the Supreme People’s Court Peng Bing	185

10	Information supervision: the optimum choice of China's supervision of credit assets securitization Xu Duoqi	218
11	Judiciary strategy for historical problems originating from the reform of Corporate Share institutions Dong Chun'e	240
12	Return to Civil Procedure Law: re-reforming the courts' power of investigation and evidence collection Li Hao	264
13	Jurisdictional error as a cause for retrial should not be removed Tang Weijian	300
	Index	311