Contributors

Tales Andreassi, PhD, is Director of GVCenn – Center of Entrepreneurship and New Ventures at Escola de Administração de Empresas de São Paulo, Fundação Getulio Vargas (Brazil). He has researched, written and lectured on various aspects of entrepreneurship and innovation, such as innovation in small companies, effectuation theory, entrepreneurship and gender and entrepreneurship education. His work has appeared in more than 20 academic journals and he is the author of eight books.

Kimberly A. Eddleston, PhD, is a Professor of Entrepreneurship and Innovation within the D’Amore-McKim School of Business, Northeastern University (United States). She is also a Toft Visiting Professor at Jönköping International Business School, a Research Fellow at the University of St. Gallen, and a Field Editor for the Journal of Business Venturing. Much of her research focuses on how family and gender influences entrepreneurship. Her articles have appeared in leading academic journals such as the Academy of Management Journal, Journal of Applied Psychology, Journal of International Business Studies, and Strategic Management Journal.

Melanie Ganter is a PhD candidate at the Center for Family Business, University of St Gallen (Switzerland). Her research interests include entrepreneurship, innovation and corporate social responsibility. Her research has been published in Entrepreneurship Theory & Practice, Journal of Product Innovation Management and the Academy of Management Best Paper Proceedings.

Jie Huang, PhD, is an Associate Professor in Entrepreneurship at the College of Economics and Management in the Huazhong Agricultural University (China). Her research focuses on rural entrepreneurship. Her work has been published in academic journals such as Chinese Rural Economy.

Jennifer E. Jennings (formerly Jennifer E. Cliff), PhD, is the Winspear Professor of Entrepreneurship and Family Enterprise at the University of Alberta School of Business (Canada). Much of her research focuses upon the roles of family and gender in entrepreneurial and family firm contexts. A former Field Editor at the Journal of Business Venturing and a long-time member of the Diana International network, she is the co-editor of another volume recently published by Edward Elgar: Global Women's Entrepreneurship Research: Diverse Settings, Questions and Approaches.
Firms within families

P. Devereaux Jennings, PhD, is a Professor of Strategy and Organization and Director of the Canadian Centre for CSR at the University of Alberta School of Business (Canada). His research on organizational strategy, entrepreneurship and the natural environment has been published in a variety of outlets, including: Administrative Science Quarterly, the Academy of Management Journal, the American Journal of Sociology, Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice, the Journal of Business Venturing, and Organization Studies. Dev is currently an Associate Editor at Administrative Science Quarterly.

Youngbin Joo is a PhD student at the University of Alberta (Canada). His research focuses on the management of innovation and entrepreneurship, with a particular emphasis on corporate environmental strategies. His research has been presented at the Academy of Management meetings.

K. Kumar, PhD, is the Apeejay Surrendra Chair Professor of Family Business and Entrepreneurship at the Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore (India). He has been a Visiting Professor of Entrepreneurship in Athens and Sydney, was an entrepreneur, CEO of Trigent Software Ltd., and recently published research on effectuation in international entrepreneurship within Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice.

Ravi Sarathy, PhD, is Professor of International Business and Strategy at the D’Amore-McKim School of Business, Northeastern University (United States). His research interests include global strategy, family business and industrial policy. His work has been published in outlets such as the Journal of International Business Studies and California Management Review, with his research on family business recently appearing in the Journal of Management Studies and Small Business Economics.

Philipp Sieger, PhD, is an Assistant Professor of Family Business at the University of St. Gallen (Switzerland). His research focuses on the nexus of family business and entrepreneurship. His work has been published in academic journals such as the Journal of Management Studies, Journal of Business Venturing, and Entrepreneurship Theory & Practice.

Li Tian, PhD, is an Associate Professor in the Business School of Nankai University (China). Her research focuses on new venture creation and the initial growth of new firms. Her work has been published in academic journals such as Management and Organization Review and Chinese Management Studies.
Maria José Tonelli, PhD, is a Full Professor at Escola de Administração de Empresas de São Paulo, Fundação Getúlio Vargas (Brazil), where she is the Director of NEOP – Research Center on Organizations and People. Her main research interests include gender, work and organization. Over the last five years, together with Professor Tales Andreassi, she has been conducting the Goldman Sachs Foundation 10,000 Women Program at FGV-EAESP.

Thomas Zellweger, PhD, holds the Chair of Family Business at the University of St Gallen (Switzerland). His research interests include strategic entrepreneurship, succession in family firms, and entrepreneurial finance. His articles appear in leading academic journals such as Academy of Management Journal, Organization Science, Strategic Management Journal, and Journal of Management Studies.

Yanfeng Zheng is an Assistant Professor at the University of Hong Kong (China). He earned his PhD in management from the University of Wisconsin Madison. His research interests revolve around the nexus of strategic management and entrepreneurship. His work has been published in leading journals such as the Academy of Management Journal, Strategic Management Journal, Journal of Business Venturing, and Journal of Management Studies.