

Contents

List of figures	viii
List of tables	ix
About the authors	x
Preamble	xii
Welcome to the year 2112	xii
Our journey – a process of co-creation	xvi
The context of our work	xxii

PART I THE CHALLENGE

1	Imagine a world worth living in	3
	An unsustainable development model	3
	Social challenges	5
	Environmental challenges	6
	Economic challenges	8
	Vision for a sustainable world	10
2	Imagine business contributing to society	12
	Disconnected business – the Friedmanian fallacy	13
	Reconnecting business to society	16
	Entrepreneurship, leadership and statesmanship	18
	Vision for sustainable business	21
3	Imagine leaders who act for the world	23
	The leadership vacuum	23
	Clarifying leadership requirements	26
	The challenge of developing responsible leaders	30
	Towards globally responsible leaders	33
4	Imagine management educators as custodians of society	39
	The landscape of management education	39
	What value do business schools generate?	42
	Who should benefit from management education?	46
	How can management education help create a better world?	49

PART II THE VISION

5	A vision of management education for the world	55
	Designing the vision of management education	55
	A new vision for management education	57
	The collaboratory – the essence of the vision	64
	Clarifying community expectations	72
6	Educating and developing globally responsible leaders	76
	Challenges in educating managers and leaders	76
	Clarifying community expectations	79
	Transformative learning	81
	Issue-centered learning	85
	Reflective practice and fieldwork	88
7	Enabling business organizations to serve the common good	95
	Challenges in supporting business and management	95
	Clarifying community expectations	100
	Research in service of society	102
	Supporting companies towards stewardship	105
	Accompanying leaders in their transformation	106
8	Engaging in the transformation of business and the economy	108
	Challenges in providing statesmanship	108
	Towards public engagement	111
	Open access between academia and practice	112
	Faculty members as public intellectuals	114
	Institutions as role models	116

PART III THE IMPLEMENTATION

9	Implementing the vision	123
	A fundamental transformation	123
	Key implementation priorities	126
	Processes of engagement for our community	130
	Community engagement: eclectic ideas for all stakeholders	140
10	Towards a new breed of faculty	151
	Identification of future requirements	151
	Review of current situation in view of obstacles	154
	Concrete actions, potential opportunities	162

11	Towards a new type of business school	168
	Identification of future requirements	168
	Review of current situation in view of obstacles	175
	Further illustrations and ideas	180
	Heeding the call	186
	Conclusion	188
	Epilogue	190
	Appendix 1 50+20 Global Survey of Management Education	196
	Appendix 2 Authorship, contributors, participants, reviewers, editors	206
	Bibliography	214
	Glossary	223
	Index	225