

About the authors

Steven DeMello is Special Advisor and Visiting Scholar at the Center for Information Technology Research in the Interest of Society (CITRIS) at the University of California. He has over 30 years of experience in research, hospital operations, strategic planning, systems management and consulting, and is the former Director of the CITRIS Health Care Initiative.

Peder Inge Furseth is Associate Professor at BI Norwegian Business School's Department of Communication and Culture in Oslo. He earned a graduate degree in Economics and a Dr. polit. degree in Sociology at the University of Oslo. He is a leadership and innovation strategy researcher and teacher with 20 years of experience. Peder Inge's specialty is to integrate executive education with research, workshops and professional networks. His main topics of research are service innovation, business models, innovation culture, omni-channel integration, social networks and value formation. He is the co-author of Innovating in a Service-driven Economy: Insights, Application and Practice (with Richard Cuthbertson and Stephen Ezell, Palgrave Macmillan, 2015) and Innovation in an Advanced Consumer Society (with Richard Cuthbertson, Oxford University Press, 2016).