

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Acknowledgments	xvi
Introduction Emmanuele Pavolini and Tanja Klenk	1
PART I THE MARKETIZATION AND MANAGERIALIZATION OF WELFARE GOVERNANCE
1 Marketization and managerialization of health care policies in Europe in a comparative perspective Emmanuele Pavolini	9
2 Marketization and managerialization of long-term care policies in a comparative perspective Hildegard Theobald	27
3 Marketization and managerialization of higher education policies in a comparative perspective Roberto Moscati, Alberto Stanchi, Matteo Turri, Massimiliano Vaira and Emmanuele Pavolini	46
4 Marketization and managerialization of education policies in a comparative perspective Emmanuele Pavolini	73
5 Marketization and managerialization of active labor market policies in a comparative perspective Bastian Jantz and Tanja Klenk	97
PART II NEW GOVERNANCE AND PROFESSIONALISM – REFORMING HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT
6 New governance and professionalism Mirko Noordegraaf	121

7	'Soft governance' and the knowledge–power bonds in professionalism: case studies from the health care sector in Germany Ellen Kuhlmann and Viola Burau	145
8	De-professionalization through managerialization in labour market policy: lessons from the Danish experience Henning Jørgensen, Kelvin Baadsgaard and Iben Nørup	163
9	'New public management' as de-professionalization – conceptual reflections with some applications to school teachers Uwe Schimank	183
10	Reforming school leadership: from primus inter pares to managers? Thorsten Peetz	200
11	Higher education professionals facing managerialism: a quantitative international comparison Michele Rostan, Flavio A. Ceravolo and Massimiliano Vaira	215
12	Interactions of governance and professionalism in higher education: a qualitative longitudinal study in the Netherlands, Sweden and the United Kingdom Christine Teelken and Marian Thunnissen	234
	Conclusions Tanja Klenk and Emmanuele Pavolini	253
	Index	267