Contributors

Daniel Opoku Acquah is a doctoral researcher at the University of Turku, Finland and at the Institute for European Studies (IES), Vrije University of Brussels, Belgium.

Rosa Maria Ballardini is an assistant professor in the Department of Accounting and Commercial Law, Hanken School of Economics, Helsinki, Finland.

Niklas Bruun is a professor of intellectual property law at Hanken School of Economics and the director of IPR University Center, Helsinki, Finland. He is also the project leader of the Finnish Academy project ‘Legal Transplant For Innovation and Creativity – A Sino-Finnish Comparative Study on the Governance of Intellectual Property Rights’ (TranSIP) on behalf of the University of Helsinki.

Yuying Guan is a professor at the Intellectual Property Centre, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences.

Kan He is a candidate for Dr.jur. at the University of Munich (LMU), Germany and TranSIP project researcher at Hanken School of Economics, Helsinki, Finland since 2013. He was a scholarship holder at the Max-Planck Institute for Innovation and Competition in Munich from 2010 to 2013.

Kelli Larson is a PhD candidate and a project researcher (TranSIP) at the Department of Accounting and Commercial Law, Hanken School of Economics, Helsinki, Finland.

Nari Lee is a professor of intellectual property law at Hanken School of Economics, Helsinki, Finland. She is the Consortium Leader of the Academy project ‘Legal Transplant For Innovation and Creativity – A Sino-Finnish Comparative Study on the Governance of Intellectual Property Rights (TranSIP).

Mingde Li is the director and professor at the Intellectual Property Center of Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, Beijing, China. He has been the principal investigator and the leader of the research group in China for the research project TranSIP.
Yang Li is a professor at Shenzhen University Law School, China. Professor Li has a PhD from Peking University Law School and is a Visiting Scholar of Hokkaido University Law School, Japan and Drake University Law School, USA. Professor Li also worked as a visiting scholar (2013–14) to the research project TranSIP at the Hanken School of Economics, Helsinki, Finland.

Max Oker-Blom is an adjunct professor at the Hanken School of Economics, Helsinki, Finland. He worked for almost two decades as Senior Vice President, legal, at Fazer group, a Nordic food service group of companies. Previous to that he was a tax partner with PriceWaterhouseCoopers. He is past President of ECTA and currently Secretary General of the same European organization.

Benjamin Pi-Wei Liu served as an assistant professor at John Marshall Law School, USA, after practising law with Stroock & Stroock & Lavan LLP in New York, and in private practice as an IP attorney in Chicago. Broadly interested in comparative patent law and enforcement in East Asia and beyond, particularly in the fields of technology and pharmaceuticals, he was an active member of the extended research team of the TranSIP project. He passed away on 1 December 2014 after a sudden illness.

Laura Tammenlehto is an LL.D candidate in the University of Eastern Finland Law School and was a TranSIP project researcher at the Hanken School of Economics, Helsinki, Finland during 2013–2014.

Weiguang Wu is an associate professor, Tsinghua University Law School, Beijing, China, who specializes in IP and IT law, has a BE and Masters degree in civil and commercial law from Tsinghua University, a European law diploma from EU-China Legal and Judicial Program, LL.M from SMU University Law School, USA, and a PhD in IP law from the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences.

Peter K. Yu is a professor of law and co-director of the Center for Law and Intellectual Property at Texas A&M University School of Law, USA. He has served as Wenlan Scholar Chair Professor at Zhongnan University of Economics and Law in Wuhan, China and as a visiting professor of law at the University of Hong Kong.

Liguo Zhang is a postdoctoral researcher at the Faculty of Law, University of Helsinki, Finland. He received his LL.D from University of Helsinki in 2013 and his LL.M in intellectual property and competition law from Munich Intellectual Property Law Center, Germany in 2006. His research focuses on innovation-related legal issues.
Contributors

Qi-shan Zhao is a postdoctoral fellow of the Institute of Law, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. She worked in the Law School of Shanghai University from 2004 to 2012 as an instructor, teaching intellectual property law, patent law and competition law. She gained her Bachelor degree from Chinese Petroleum University, and her LL.M and JSD from Peking University, Beijing, China.

Yajie Zhao is undertaking doctoral research on the comparative study of Chinese and EU intellectual property law at the Faculty of Law, University of Helsinki, Finland.

Lin Zhou is a professor at the Law Institute of Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. He has made extraordinary contributions to the IP field, especially in the area of copyright law and is one of the pioneers of art law research in China.