Figures

3.1 When disasters hit in the past, poor people were more likely to be affected 38
3.2 Poor people lose a larger percentage of assets after floods and storms 39
3.3 A majority of health expenditures in low-income countries come from out-of-pocket 44
5.1 Potential for investment in produced capital in sub-Saharan Africa 83
5.2 Irrigation infrastructure intensity gaps in sub-Saharan Africa 85
5.3 Planned hydropower generation capacity in sub-Saharan Africa 86
5.4 Paved road infrastructure intensity gaps in sub-Saharan Africa 87
5.5 Education spending gaps in sub-Saharan Africa 88
5.6 Comparing benchmarking methods for access to improved water 90
5.7 Comparing benchmarking methods for internet communications infrastructure 91
5.8 Access to finance across sub-Saharan Africa 93
5.9 Standardized World Governance Index (WGI) scores in sub-Saharan Africa 95
5.10 The top eight countries in terms of likely future investment 96
6.1 Decision support tools for adaptation economic appraisal 111
8.1 Compact, Connected, Coordinated: the 3C model of urban growth and climate resilience 154
10.1 Disaster risk financing and insurance pillars 188
10.2 The layering approach for risk reduction and risk financing 190
10.3 The coverage of micro-insurance 193
10.4 Natural disaster risk financing schemes in low- and middle-income countries 194