

Figures

1.1	Capabilities Map, dynamic capabilities and ordinary capabilities	10
2.1	Levels of informal organizational forms and boundaries	30
2.2	Dynamism of dynamic capabilities-generating strategic communities and boundary networks	34
2.3	Characteristics of three informal organizational systems	36
2.4	Driving dynamic capabilities by dynamic informal organizational forms	43
2.5	Capabilities lifecycles on the Capabilities Map	44
2.6	The strategic innovation system	51
3.1	Capabilities congruence inside and outside of a company	58
3.2	Internal and external consistency of capabilities congruence: a dynamic strategic management framework	61
3.3	Aggregate theoretical concepts of internal capabilities elements	65
3.4	Business elements of dynamic capabilities in corporate systems	67
3.5	“Organizational Capabilities” of network integration through the orchestration of co-specialized assets (customers – DOCOMO – Mitsubishi)	73
3.6	Capabilities congruence through orchestration of co-specialized assets	83
3.7	Corporate boundaries, assets orchestration, capabilities congruence	86
3.8	Internal and external congruence through orchestration of co-specialized assets (the Sony PlayStation business model development)	88
3.9	Internal and external congruence through orchestration of co-specialized assets (strategy transformation from telephones to Internet at NTT DOCOMO)	90
3.10	Internal and external congruence in the Capabilities Map	92
3.11	Capabilities abrasion and friction hindering capabilities congruence	100

4.1	Multi-layered strategic communities in Apple's iPod and iTunes music store development	106
4.2	Internal and external congruence through orchestration of co-specialized assets (the Apple case)	127
5.1	Internal and external congruence through orchestration of co-specialized assets (at Cisco)	144
6.1	Realization of "intellectual fusion and innovation" through the formation of multi-layered strategic communities	154
6.2	Generating dynamic capabilities with new corporate governance forming internal and external strategic communities and networked strategic communities: the basic form of the strategic community-based firm	162
8.1	Dynamic capabilities and ordinary capabilities	192
9.1	Strategic innovation capabilities through dynamic strategic management	206
9.2	The "strategic innovation loop" through "strategic innovation capabilities"	208
9.3	The framework of the sustainable strategic innovation model	214