

---

Contents

---

Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	xi
List of selected abbreviations	xii
PART I INTRODUCTION
1 Introduction	2
PART II THEORY
2 Introduction to theory	10
3 Geography and economics	12
4 Complexity theory	17
5 Basic concepts	20
6 Theories of location	34
7 Complex systems and evolutionary economics	89
8 Locational possibilities and outcomes	121
9 Spatial units	128
10 History and competition among expectations	195
11 War and the location of firms	224
12 Conclusions	229
PART III SUPPLY CHAIN ECONOMY
13 Supply chain economy	236
PART IV MARKET STRUCTURE AND LOCATION OF PRODUCTION
14 Market structure: introduction	278
15 Background	279
16 Innovation	301
17 Specialisation and returns to scale	368
18 Non-tariff barriers	392
19 Conclusions	413
PART V GLOBALISATION
20 Globalisation	415

PART VI INTERNATIONAL FIRMS

21	Introduction	461
22	Foreign direct investment and transnational corporations	462
23	Trans-border business activities	497
24	Transnational corporations and international economic integration	543
25	The European Union and transnational corporations	546
26	Benefits and concerns	552
27	Conclusions	559

PART VII REGIONAL POLICY

28	Introduction	564
29	Theory of regional policy	565
30	Objectives and justifications	571
31	Instruments	577
32	Impact of international economic integration on location	579
33	European Union	596
34	One case: Mezzogiorno	632
35	Conclusions	636

PART VIII CONCLUSIONS

36	General conclusions	644
	Bibliography	660
	Index	705