Unpublished letters and other documents relating to Brown are from Arthur Brown's correspondence and papers; Brotherton Library, University of Leeds. These are denoted in footnotes as AJB C&P. Where they are mimeos, they are presented as a full reference when first used, and just by title thereafter.

References

Brown, A.J. (1949a) Inflation and the flight from cash, Yorkshire Bulletin of Economic and Social Research, 1, 33–42.

Brown, A.J. (1968) Some myths about the Six, Yorkshire Post, 4 March.

Brown, A.J. (1977) United Kingdom, in Commission of the European...

The value of applied economics

References

Daniels, G.W. (1930) Economic and commercial studies in the Owens College and the University, The Manchester School, 1, 3–9.

References

The value of applied economics

References

Laidler, D. (1989) Radcliffe, the quantity theory and monetarism, in D. Cobham, R. Harrington, and G. Zis (eds.) Money Trade and
The value of applied economics

United Nations (1962) Economic and Social Consequences of Disarmament:
References

Report to the Secretary-General Transmitting the Study and its Consultative Group, Department of Economic and Social Affairs, UN, New York. United States Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (1962) Economic Impacts of Disarmament, United States Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, Washington DC.

