This book is based on research I conducted as Fellow at the Europa Institute (Public Law) of Leiden University. It marks the ending of a fascinating and rewarding journey and I am grateful to everyone who has accompanied me on it – for longer or shorter periods, close by or from afar. I have thoroughly enjoyed the challenging and stimulating discussions throughout – with my Leiden colleagues and with peers from all over whom I have had the privilege to meet.

Only a few people to whom I owe particular gratitude can be named here. Warm thanks to Prof. Dr. Stefaan Van den Bogaert for his trust and camaraderie. I could not have written the book without the guidance of Prof. Dr. Marco Bronckers, whose sharp mind, enthusiasm and at times healthy skepticism were major driving forces. Thanks to Dr. Freya Baetens for her support and detailed reviews. Prof. Dr. Niels Blokker, Prof. Dr. Peter Van den Bossche, Prof. Dr. Cedric Ryngaert and Prof. Joanne Scott deserve a special mention, as they have stimulated and encouraged me at different moments and in different ways to think further, both with regard to the specific content of my research and the bigger picture. Joanne, your inquisitive mind is an inspiration. Also, a sincere thanks to my editors at Edward Elgar Publishing for their great work and dedication.

Finally, this book would not have been possible without the endless cheering and love from friends and family. A thousand thanks.
