Contents

Preface xi
List of abbreviations xiii

PART I GENERAL FEATURES AND HISTORIC DEVELOPMENT
OF THE LAW OF AND AGAINST WAR – JUS CONTRA BELLUM

1. General features 3
   A. Peace as an ideal and a reality 3
   B. Change of legal paradigm 5
   C. The prohibition against the use of force as a norm of the international order 7
   D. The progressive ‘juridicalisation’ of international law 9
   E. Changing international politics: para pacem or para bellum? 11
   F. Political regimes and their influence on peace 12
   G. Does the use of force have positive results? 16
   H. The problem of ‘psychological unilateralism’ 21
   I. Short-term peace and long-term peace 24

2. The historic development of limitations on recourse to force: main periods in which the jus ad bellum has come under pressure 29
   A. The doctrine of the just war 29
   B. The ‘indifference’ doctrine 36
   C. First steps in limiting the right to use force: 1899–1919 42
   D. The League of Nations Covenant, 1919 45
   E. Efforts to fill in lacunae in the Covenant: 1919–1928 68
   F. Outlawing war by means of the Kellogg–Briand Pact (Pact of Paris), 1928 73
   G. The Stimson Doctrine of non-recognition: 1932 79

3. Overview: state of the law in 1939 86
PART II   POWERS OF THE ORGANISED COLLECTIVITY
(PARTICULARLY THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL)

4. Scheme and structure of the United Nations Charter 89
   A. General features 89
   B. The Charter’s long-term strategy – positive peace 90
   C. The Charter’s short-term strategy – negative peace 94
   D. Ideals underlying the Charter and realities of the Cold War world 99
   E. General comments on the Charter’s schematic development since 1945 101
   F. Governing feature of the whole Charter system – the fear of ‘abuses’ by States 109

   A. Foundational ideas: the wish for a strong executive, and the veto 111
   B. Deciding that a situation permits action under Chapter VII 113
   C. Powers of the Security Council 141
   D. Value and limits of the Security Council’s powers 229

6. Executing (by force?) a judgment of the International Court of Justice 260
   A. Content and scope of Article 94 §2 of the Charter 260
   B. Content of Security Council measures 261
   C. Execution by military means? 263
   D. Types of judicial pronouncement covered 264
   E. Voting at the Security Council, and its practice 265
   F. Security Council practice in relation to Article 94 §2 268
   G. Action by the General Assembly to execute judgments of the Court? 269

7. The exercise of parallel competences by the Security Council and the International Court of Justice 272
   A. The Council/Assembly relationship and the Council/Court relationship 272
   B. When the Council is seised of a dispute, is it non-justiciable? 274
   C. Applicability of the forum perpetuum principle 274
   D. Can the Security Council prohibit a State from seising the Court? 275
Contents

E. Can the Security Council give the Court automatic jurisdiction by a Resolution under Chapter VII?
   276

F. The principle of mutual respect between UN organs
   278

8. The binding character of Security Council decisions under Chapter VII or under Article 94 § 2 of the Charter; Article 50 of the Charter
   279
   A. The binding character of Council decisions: Article 25 of the Charter, material and personal application
      279
   B. Priority of obligations under the Charter over other international obligations: Article 103 of the Charter and the material and personal scope of its application
      283
   C. The right of States affected by Security Council measures to be heard and, in some cases, to receive assistance: Article 50 of the Charter
      290

9. Classic and robust peace-keeping operations
   294
   A. History and basis of peace-keeping operations
      294
   B. Principles and methods governing the organisation of UN forces
      296
   C. Developments: robust and multifunctional peace-keeping
      297
   D. Regional peace-keeping operations
      301

10. Chapter VII of the Charter and neutrality
    305
    A. The concept of neutrality: law and policy
       305
    B. Neutrality and collective security
       307
    C. Neutrality outside collective security
       311
    D. The waning and waxing of neutrality
       314

PART III THE PROHIBITION AGAINST RECURS TO FORCE AND EXCEPTIONS FOR INDIVIDUAL STATES

11. The prohibition against the use of force: Article 2 § 4 of the Charter
    321
    A. Significance of Article 2 § 4
       321
    B. Sources of the prohibition
       323
    C. Applicability of Article 2 § 4 ratione personae (personal)
       327
    D. Applicability of Article 2 § 4 ratione loci (location)
       328
    E. Applicability of Article 2 § 4 ratione materiae (subject matter)
       329
    F. Consequences of a breach of Article 2 §4
       345
12. Exceptions to the prohibition against the use of force 349
   A. General aspects 349
   B. Self-defence: Article 51 of the Charter 350
   C. Customary exceptions to the prohibition against the use of force 417

13. Peaceful change 458
   A. The problem: stability versus adaptation 458
   B. Article 19 of the League of Nations Covenant 459
   C. Article 14 of the United Nations Charter 460

14. General conclusions 463

Bibliography 470
Index 473