

Figures

---

2.1	Bloom/Krathwohl – six levels of cognitive skills and development (adapted)	16
2.2	The cognitive domain for mootng: three-dimensional context (after Bloom)	19
3.1	Elements of psychomotor skills development	35
3.2	Relevant fields of psychomotor skills	38
3.3	Aspects of psychomotor skills	40
4.1	Taxonomy of the affective domain	53
4.2	Modelling intervention in the affective domain	61
4.3	Systematic desensitisation and anxiety	66
4.4	Systematic desensitisation: cognitive and affective desensitisation	72
4.5	Incremental increase of judicial hostility and cognitive complexity	74
4.6	Staged progression in the affective domain	77
5.1	Moot coaching model (after Côté and Gilbert)	89
7.1	Structural and methodological components of the drafting process	138
9.1	Basic form of criterion-referenced criteria/standards matrix	168
9.2	Defined form of criterion-referenced criteria/standards matrix – cognitive domain	170
9.3	Six levels of cognitive skills and development	170
9.4	Rhetorical and grammatical criteria for written and oral submissions	174
10.1	The Art of mootng	181
A.1	Conceptual model – all criteria and standards	187