About the authors

Niklas Bremberg is Associate Professor at the Department of Political Science, Stockholm University, Sweden. He is also Senior Research Fellow at the Swedish Institute of International Affairs and Associate Senior Researcher at the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI). His research interests include international practice theory, European Union foreign and security policy, and global governance of climate security. His research has recently been published in International Studies Review, Journal of Common Market Studies, Journal of European Integration, European Security, Journal of International Relations and Development and WIRE: Climate Change. He has co-edited with Federica Bicchi the volume European Diplomacy in Practice: Interrogating Power, Agency and Change (Routledge).

August Danielson is a PhD candidate in Political Science at the Department of Government, Uppsala University, Sweden. His research primarily focuses on European Union foreign and security policy as well as how and why diplomatic practices vary between multilateral institutions. His research has been published in the Journal of Common Market Studies and the Journal of International Relations and Development. August is also an associate fellow at the Swedish Institute of International Affairs (UI).

Elsa Hedling is a postdoctoral fellow at the Department of Political Science at Lund University, Sweden and an associate research fellow at the Swedish Institute of International Affairs in Stockholm, Sweden. Her research focuses on diplomacy, political communication, international relations theory and European integration. She has previously published articles on topics of European Union foreign policy in Global Affairs, European Security and International Affairs.

Anna Michalski is Associate Professor in Political Science at the Department of Government, Uppsala University, Sweden; Associated Senior Researcher at the Swedish Institute of International Affairs; and visiting Associate Professor at the School of Modern Languages and Culture, Hong Kong University. She is Chair of the Swedish Network for European Studies in Political Science (SNES) and a member of the Swedish Foreign Policy Society. Her research focuses on European foreign policy, European Union–China relations, strategic partnerships and socialization in international organizations. She has held academic positions at Fudan University, Shanghai, China, and Auckland University, New Zealand, as well as at several European policy research institutes. Between 1996 to 2001, she worked at the Forward Studies Unit of the European Commission. Her research has been published in European Journal of International Relations, Journal of Common Market Studies, Journal of European Public Policy, Journal of European Integration, Foreign Policy, Journal of International Relations and Development and Asia-Europe Journal. She is editor for the Interdisciplinary European Studies series (Palgrave Macmillan), and author of Unlikely Partners? China, the European Union and the Forging of a Strategic Partnership (Palgrave Macmillan, 2017).