In writing this book I benefited greatly from the encouragement and scholarly support of Nathalie Chalifour, Heather McLeod-Kilmurray, Lynda Collins, and Sophie Thériault. Jamie Benidickson and Michael M'Gonigle also provided me with stimulating comments and helpful suggestions on earlier versions of this text.

Geoffrey Garver introduced me to ecological law, inspiring this project and providing invaluable feedback on it.

Jean-François Dionne, in addition to overall support, lent valuable advice from the perspective of critical political economy.

I am grateful to all and to my family, especially Lisl, friends and colleagues for the various ways in which they supported me in this endeavour.

The Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada and the University of Ottawa generously provided financial support for the research underlying this book.
