

Contents

List of figures	viii
List of tables	x
Acknowledgments	xi
1 Introduction	1
Redefining organization for the coming transitions	1
Two orthogonal organizational ideal types: bureaucracy and collegiality	5
A neo-structural, stratigraphic and multilevel approach	18
Overview	26
PART I A STRATIGRAPHIC AND MULTILEVEL NETWORK APPROACH TO ORGANIZATIONS
2 Bureaucracy and collegiality co-constituting organizations as multilevel settings	40
Stratigraphy and superposed levels of collective agency	43
Collegial pockets and levels in organizational stratigraphy	48
Multilevel relational infrastructures in organizational stratigraphy	53
Illustration: bureaucratic rotation of peers as controlled social change in a law firm	56
Multilevel co-constitution: from bottom-up collegiality to top-down collegiality	69
Illustration: combining bureaucracy and collegiality in a Roman Catholic diocese	70
Multilevel relational infrastructures in cyclical network dynamics and joint regulation	82
Illustration: a case of institutional capture at the Commercial Court of Paris	83
Stability from movement and multilevel dynamic invariants in neo-structural institutionalism	95

Recursive, endogenous transformations or unstoppable bureaucratization?	100
3 Combined bureaucracy and collegiality in co-constitution of organizations and their environment	103
Challenges to bureaucracy from outside the organization	106
The added value of analyses of multilevel networks across organizational boundaries	111
Multilevel relational infrastructures beyond organizational boundaries	113
Illustration: catching up with the big fish in the big pond in science	116
Resilience of interindividual networks when interorganizational networks disappear	129
Network lift from dual alters: multilevel extended opportunity structures	130
Adding a third level to social status: a multilevel Matthew effect	135
Exogenous forces in dynamic configuring fields	141
PART II EXPLORATORY APPLICATIONS OF STRATIGRAPHIC AND MULTILEVEL NETWORK APPROACHES
4 Government by relationships: policy, collegial oligarchies of insiders, and institutions of the political economy	153
Exploring coepetition through top-down collegiality in markets and market institutions	154
Coepetitive collegial oligarchies in markets	158
Coevolutions of social processes in markets and market institutions	171
Toward dynamic multilevel network approaches to markets and coepetition	172
On dynamic multilevel infrastructures in joint regulation of markets	177
Illustration at the transnational level: the case of a public/private institution regulating innovation	179
More on institutional capture and its multilevel relational infrastructures	200

5	Revisiting the role of organizations in generating social inequalities and stratification	205
	Organizations as ratchets of social stratification: the more open at the bottom, the more closed at the top	208
	Pitfalls of participation with intermediaries, not vertical linchpins	222
	More invisible organizational inequalities: synchronization costs in dynamics of multilevel networks	227
6	Inside-out collegiality: new bureaucratic parameterizations of commons through digitalization	240
	Current social digitalization of private relationships at the population level	244
	Platform bureaucracy, platform capitalism and parameterizing the commons	249
	Big data and digital parameterization of collective responsibility in the new commons	252
	Swarm templates: military social digitalization as further bureaucratization	255
7	Conclusion	273
	Summary	273
	What next?	282
	References	288
	Index	311