

Figures and tables

---

Figures

1.1	Gambling revenues (1988–1998)	10
1.2	US acceptance of gambling	11
1.3	Why people gamble	12
2.1	Breakdown of US entertainment expenditures in 1999	24
4.1	Product life cycle (system)	54
4.2	District of Columbia's daily number sales (1993–2000)	55
4.3	California's lotto sales (1994–1999)	57
4.4	Massachusetts' instant game sales (1993–2000)	58
5.1	Turfway Park daily handle	64
5.2	Sports Spectrum daily handle	65
5.3	Maryland racing revenue (1982–1997)	66
5.4	Delaware Park net proceeds (1996–1997)	68
5.5	Dover Downs net proceeds (1996–1997)	69
5.6	Harrington net proceeds (August 1996–December 1997)	69
6.1	Porter's model of industry competitive dynamics	78
6.2	The S&P model of industry competitive political dynamics	81
6.3	The S&P model of the gambling industry	91
7.1	Minnesota instant sales	101
7.2	Minnesota Powerball sales	101
7.3	Minnesota daily game sales	102
7.4	Wisconsin instant sales	103
7.5	Wisconsin Powerball sales	103
7.6	Wisconsin daily game sales	104
7.7	Arizona instant sales	105
7.8	Arizona Powerball sales	106
7.9	Arizona daily game sales	106
7.10	New Mexico instant sales	107
7.11	New Mexico Powerball sales	107

Tables

3.1	Non-native American casino gaming market	30
3.2	US riverboat casinos	31
3.3	Number of electronic gaming devices (EGDs)	33

3.4	Las Vegas visitors length of stay	36
3.5	Las Vegas visitor spending	36
3.6	Gaming versus non-gaming revenue growth	37
3.7	Las Vegas visitor demographics (1999)	38
4.1	Breakdown of US lottery sales (1995)	50
4.2	Breakdown of US lottery sales (1999)	51
4.3	Lottery niches in various states	52
6.1	Critical assumptions of the Porter and S&P Models	81