Bibliography

Booth, Anne (1999), ‘Initial Conditions and Miraculous Growth: Why is Southeast Asia Different from Taiwan and South Korea?’, World Development, 27(2), 301–21.
Crisis and recovery in Malaysia

The Economist (1999), ‘The Road less Travelled’, 1 May, p.79.

Edwards, Sebastian (1984), ‘The Order of Liberalization of the External Sector in Developing Countries’, Princeton Essays in International Finance 156, Princeton University.

Goldstein, Morris and Carmen Reinhart (1998), *Forecasting Financial Cri-

Crisis and recovery in Malaysia

Crisis and recovery in Malaysia

Nellor, David (2000), ‘Searching for a New Exchange Rate Regime for Asia’,

Stiglitz, Joseph (1998), ‘More Instruments and Broader Goals: Moving To-
Crisis and recovery in Malaysia

ward the Post-Washington Consensus’, WIDER Annual Lectures, 2, Helsinki: UNU/WIDER.
Wilson, Dominic (2000), ‘Recent Developments in Asian Financial Markets’, paper presented at the Financial Markets and Policies in East Asia conference, 4–5 September, Australian National University, Canberra.

Zefferys, Nicholas (1999), ‘Doing Business in Malaysia: An American Ground Level Perspective’ (a presentation by the author to foreign journalists visiting Malaysia in his capacity as the President of the American Malaysian Chamber of Commerce), www.neac.gov.my.