

Tables

1.1	Summary profile of SMEs in East Asia/APEC	7
3.1	Major differences between livelihood enterprises and growth-oriented micro-enterprises	78
3.2	Growth characteristics of micro-enterprises (% distribution of all enterprises more than one year old that started with 1–4 workers)	86
3.3	Characteristics of micro-enterprises: contributions to income and welfare (%)	87
4.1	Assessment ratios from the SNA93 for the sector of non-financial corporations	104
4.2	SNA93 balance sheet for the sector of monetary financial institutions in the UK	110
4.3	Government finance statistics, general government (all levels of government), Australia, 1998–99	114
5.1	Data for establishments	141
5.2	Original data used in the regression	143
7.1	The emerging themes and dimensions	177
8.1	Taxonomy of personal moral philosophies	192
8.2	Factor analysis results	198
8.3	Reliability of measure	199
8.4	Regression analysis	200
10.1	Parameter estimates	246
11.1	Indicators of R&D performance	260
11.2	Demographics of the sample	263
11.3	Sectoral comparison of firm demographics	264
11.4	Sectoral comparison of firm technology characteristics	264
11.5	Sectoral comparison of alliances with competitors	265
11.6	Two-sample T-test for differences in competitor relationships between high-technology and low-technology sectors	266
11.7	Sectoral comparison of supplier structure	267
11.8	Sectoral comparison of knowledge-sharing and product development activities with suppliers	268
11.9	Two-sample T-test for differences in supplier relationships between high-technology and low-technology sectors	268

11.10	Sectoral comparison of customer structure	269
11.11	Sectoral comparison of knowledge-sharing and product development activities with customers	269
11.12	Two-sample T-test for differences in customer relationships between high-technology sectors and low-technology sectors	270
11.13	Sectoral comparison of supplier firm's geographical distribution	270
11.14	Sectoral comparison of customer firm's geographical distribution	271
11.15	Two-sample T-test for differences in the geographical scope between high-technology sectors and low-technology sectors	272
12.1	UK study	286
12.2	China study	290
12.3	Comparison of UK and China sample: demographics	291
13.1	Contribution of micro-, small and medium-sized enterprises to private non-agricultural employment, selected APEC countries (%)	302
13.2	Number of private non-agricultural SMEs as a percentage of firms, selected APEC countries (%)	303
13.3	Categories of SME support policies	305
13.4	Finance policies in support of SMEs in APEC countries (% of APEC countries)	314
15.1	Total venture capital investments, 1998–99	352