Tables

1.1  Sources of intentional reliability
1.2  Sources of reliance
2.1  Inference of intentional reliability
2.2  Inference of competence
2.3  Attribution of trustworthiness
6.1  Scale characteristics and within-group agreement
6.2  Fit indices and structural relations
6.3  Correlations between variables in the model
7.1  Factor loadings of the inspirational leadership items
7.2  Factor loadings of the integrity and trustworthiness items
7.3  Scale means and intercorrelations between the scales
7.4  Hierarchical regression regarding the impact of leadership and trust in the leader on trust in generalized others
7.5  Hierarchical regression predicting the impact of leadership, fairness, trustworthiness and integrity on trust in generalized others
9.1  Overview of hypotheses
9.2  Typology of control strategies
9.3  MUDFOLD scale 1, ‘Public versus Private Control’
9.4  MUDFOLD scale 2, ‘Indirect Control’
9.5  Results of MANOVA
9.6  Means for the effects on scale 1 (public versus private control)
9.7  Means for the interaction effects on the item ‘Resignation’
10.1  Dimensions of trustworthiness, by type of case
10.2  To whom the lead player talks, in first and second instance, by type of case
10.3  Actions of the lead player
10.4  Reaction of the other player
10.5  Reaction of the other player related to action of the lead player, for trouble, and trust and trouble, cases only 10.6  Evaluation of lead player about what happened, related to his view on quality of the relationship, for trouble, and trust and trouble, cases only
10.7  Severity of trouble, related to lead player’s view on quality of the relationship, for trouble, and trust and trouble, cases only