

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
List of contributors	ix

1 The place of consumption in ecological economics Inge Røpke and Lucia A. Reisch	1
---	---

PART I PROBLEMATIZING CONSUMPTION

2 Questionable assumptions about sustainable consumption Richard Wilk	17
3 The society, its products and the environmental role of consumption Joachim H. Spangenberg	32
4 Work-related consumption drivers and consumption at work Inge Røpke	60

PART II EXPLAINING CONSUMPTION

5 Beyond insatiability – needs theory, consumption and sustainability Tim Jackson, Wander Jager and Sigrid Stagl	79
6 Changing human behaviour and lifestyle: A challenge for sustainable consumption? Elizabeth Shove	111
7 Domestic electricity consumption – consumers and appliances Kirsten Gram-Hanssen	132
8 Sustainability in everyday life – a matter of time? Mikko Jalas	151

PART III CHANGING CONSUMPTION

9 Sustainable consumption as a consumer policy issue Lucia A. Reisch	175
--	-----

10	Lifestyle approaches as a sustainable consumption policy – a German example Claudia Empacher and Konrad Götz	190
11	Community, reflexivity and sustainable consumption Laurie Michaelis	207
12	Macroeconomic stability: Sustainable development and full employment Jesper Jespersen	233
	Index	251