

Acknowledgements

Like the enterprising activity I describe, this book is both an individual and collective endeavour. Barbara Czarniawska, David Goss, Bob Jones, Eugene Sadler-Smith, Chris Steyaert, Tony Watson and a number of anonymous reviewers have all made major and minor contributions and suggestions. Some of which have been used and some ignored. James Reveley, esteemed colleague and sometime co-author, definitely deserves a pat on the back for pointing out my sometime cavalier attitude to social theory. The resulting text with all its faults is all my doing. I am especially grateful to Paul, John, Will and Mark for their willing engagement in this research. Thanks also to Francine O'Sullivan, Jo Betteridge and all at Edward Elgar for their professionalism in producing this book. For those that have had to endure the writing of this book over all the different houses, countries and years, I save the greatest thanks.
