

Tables

---

5.1	Profitability of selected European mobile telecommunications firms	98
5.2	Profitability indicators of mobile telecommunications firms in the UK	99
5.3	The 3G licence assignment in the European Union	103
6.1	Performance of US database industry post Feist v. Rural Telephone (1991)	116
7.1	Educational level of FLOSS developers by age and marital status	159
7.2	Flows from initial to continuing motivational groups within the FLOSS community	171
7.3	Socio-demographic structure of initial motivational groups	173
7.4	Socio-demographic structure of continuing motivational groups	176
8.1	Simulation results	195
9.1	The most popular search words	201
9.2	A glance at content/entertainment markets	204
9.3	The five major record companies	213
9.4	Economies of scope in entertainment industries	214
10.1	Percentage of workers in age, educational level and gender categories using computer technology at work in Britain, Germany and the United States	221
10.2	Log wage differentials between computer using and non-using workers in age, educational level and gender categories in Germany and the United States	223
10.3	OLS regression estimates of the effects of computer technology use on pay in the United States, 1984–1997	225
10.4	OLS regressions for the effect of writing, math and computer skills on pay	228
12.1	ICT intensity regression results	289
12.2	ICT intensity and market dynamics	296
13.1	The ‘basic’ parameter set	317
13.2	Comparative steady state results	320

