Contributors

Hartmut Aden is an Assistant Professor of European and German Public Law and Political Science at the University of Hanover (Germany). His teaching and research areas mainly cover questions related to multi-level governance in the fields of environmental law and policy, internal security, human rights and the information society.

Kieran St. C. Bradley is the Head of the Legislation Unit of the European Parliament’s Legal Service. He has also previously worked at the European Court of Justice and has taught, inter alia, at Harvard Law School. In 2003 and 2004, he served on both groups of legal experts who advised on the drafting of the Constitution for Europe.

Cathryn Costello took up a Senior Research Fellowship in Public and EC Law at Worcester College, Oxford, in October 2003. She is currently working on a monograph on EU immigration law. From 1998–2003 she was Lecturer in European Law at the Law School, Trinity College Dublin, and from 2000–2003, she also held the position of Director of the Irish Centre for European Law.

Simon Duke is an Associate Professor at the European Institute of Public Administration, Maastricht, where he specialises in EU Common Foreign and Security Policy issues. He has published a number of books in this area as well as journal articles.

Michelle Everson is Professor in Law at Birkbeck College, University of London, where she specialises in European law, constitutional law and economic law. She has researched widely in the field of European administrative and constitutional law, and has published many articles in this field.

Dorothee Fischer-Appelt has been a member of the US Law Group in Allen & Overy LLP’s London office since 2003 after having practiced at Sullivan & Cromwell LLP’s New York office since 1997 and has experience in international capital markets transactions, as well as cross-border mergers and acquisitions. She frequently lectures on EU financial services legislation and US securities laws and wrote her PhD thesis on EU agencies.

Herwig C.H. Hofmann is Professor of Transnational Public Law at the University of Luxembourg and was Lecturer at Trinity College Law School, Dublin, Ireland. His areas of specialisation are European constitutional, administrative and regulatory law, as well as international trade law.

Christian Joerges was Professor in Bremen and Co-Director of the Centre for European Law and Politics at that University until 1998. He is now Professor for European Economic Law at the European University Institute. His present research deals with transnational risk regulation, the Europeanisation of private law and anti-liberal traditions of legal thought in Europe.

Torbjörn Larsson has been an Associated Professor at the department of Political Science at Stockholm University since 1994. During 1996–2001 he was an Associated Professor at European Institute of Public Administration in Maastricht.

Christine Neuhold is an Assistant Professor at the University of Maastricht within the European Studies Programme. Her fields of specialisation are decision making and institutions in the EU multi-level system of governance, questions of democratic legitimacy and Treaty reform and EU policies.

Gerhard Roller is Professor for environmental law and economics at the University for Applied Sciences, Bingen, Germany and Chercheur associé aux Facultés universitaires St Louis, Brussels.

Elissaveta Radulova is a Researcher at the University of Maastricht, the Netherlands. She holds an MA in International Relations and an MA in European Public Affairs. She is currently working on her PhD-project on the effectiveness of the Open Method of Coordination. Among her research interests are modes of governance in the EU, the Lisbon process, problem-solving capacity of the EU, application of the Open Method of Coordination in employment and research policies.

Gerard C. Rowe is Professor of Public, Administrative, Environmental and Local Government Law, Comparative Law and Economic Analysis of Law at the Europa-Universität Viadrina Frankfurt (Oder) (Germany).
Bettina Rudloff is Assistant Professor at the Institute for Agricultural Policy, University of Bonn, Germany and external Lecturer at the European Institute of Public Administration, Maastricht, The Netherlands.

Guenther F. Schaefer is Professor emeritus of Public Policy at the European Institute of Public Administration (EIPA), Maastricht.

Johannes Simons is Senior Lecturer at the Institute for Agricultural Policy, University of Bonn, Germany.

Jarle Trondal is Professor in Public Administration and European Integration and Director, Centre for European Studies at Agder University College. He has previously held posts as research fellow at ARENA – Centre for European Studies, University of Oslo, and as senior researcher at NIFU STEP – Studies in Innovation, Research and Education. His present research is on decision-making dynamics within the European Commission and the Europeanisation of regional government.

Alexander H. Türk is Lecturer in Law at King’s College London. He is Director of the Anglo-German Programme of the School of Law and Director of the Postgraduate Diploma in EC Law by Distance Learning. His research interests cover European constitutional and administrative law, in particular comitology, as well as comparative constitutional and administrative law.

Sophie Vanhoonacker is Associate Professor at the Faculty of Arts and Culture, University of Maastricht and director of studies at the Bachelor European Studies. Prior to this position she was Associate Professor at the European Institute of Public Administration (EIPA), Maastricht (NL).