About the editors

Bart Clarysse holds a PhD in applied economics from Ghent University (1996). He is a Professor of Innovation and Technology Management at Vlerick Leuven Ghent Management School and at Ghent University (Ghent, Belgium). He has carried out various projects concerning technology management for national and international organizations such as OECD, IWT (Vlaams Instituut voor de Aanmoediging van Innovatie door Wetenschap en Technologie), the European Commission, and has published internationally in this domain. Since 1998, he has been a scientific adviser for the IWT with regard to Flemish innovation and technology policy. He was also involved in the start-up of several high-tech companies. He has written several international publications in the field of R&D management and technology policy in journals such as Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice, Journal of Business Venturing, Research Policy, International Journal of Technology Management and Science Technology and Industry Review. Dr Clarysse is the Scientific Director of the Gate2Growth Academic Network in Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Finance.

Juan Roure is Professor of Entrepreneurship at the IESE Business School (University of Navarra, Barcelona, Spain). His areas of interest include innovation, entrepreneurship and new ventures, strategy and negotiation as a management process. Dr Roure holds a PhD in engineering management from Stanford University (USA), an MBA from ESADE (Spain), a degree in industrial engineering from the Polytechnic University of Cataluña (Spain), and an Individual Study Project (IPS) from the Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard University (USA).

Tom Schamp is Advisor European Programmes at IWT Flanders (Brussels, Belgium). From June 2002 to August 2006, Mr Schamp was the manager of the Gate2Growth Academic Network in Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Finance, on behalf of the European Institute for Advanced Studies in Management (EIASM, Brussels, Belgium). From 1999 to 2002, Mr Schamp was a senior researcher at the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration, Ghent University (Belgium). From 1996 to 1999 he was a research assistant at the SME Department and the Centre for Entrepreneurship at the Vlerick Leuven Ghent Management School

(VLGMS, Belgium). His main research interests are start-ups, strategy and strategic planning, and the development and growth of high-tech companies. Mr Schamp has obtained degrees in political sciences and international relations, and a MaM in applied developmental economics.