

Contributors

---

Patrick Artus is the chief economist at IXIS Corporate and Investment bank of the Caisse d'Épargne Group. He is a professor of economics at Ecole Polytechnique and at the University of Paris I Panthéon-Sorbonne. He is a member of the Conseil d'analyse économique reporting to the French Prime Minister.

Avner Ben-Ner is a professor at the Carlson School of Management, University of Minnesota, USA. His research specialities are the theory of organization, non-profit organizations, and economics and psychology.

Bernard Gazier is a professor of economics at the University of Paris I Panthéon-Sorbonne and a researcher at the laboratory MATISSE-CES (Modélisation Appliquée, Trajectoires Institutionnelles, Stratégies Socio-Économiques – Centre d'Économie de la Sorbonne). His main research fields are labour economics and labour market policies in Europe.

Xavier Greffe is a professor of economics at the University of Paris I Panthéon-Sorbonne. His main research area is the economic aspects of cultural heritage and its management.

Claude Henry is a director of research at the CNRS (Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique) and a professor at the Ecole Polytechnique. His main research fields are competition and regulation of public services in the European Union, and economic growth and the environment.

Philippe Herzog is president of Confrontations-Europe and a member of the Conseil d'analyse économique reporting to the French Prime Minister. He is a former European deputy and a professor at the University of Paris X Nanterre.

Inge Kaul is director of the Office of Development Studies at the United Nations Development Program. Her research focuses on development financing and aid.

Joseph E. Stiglitz is a professor at Columbia University and a Nobel laureate. His research explores information asymmetries, adverse selection and moral hazard in the economics of information. He has contributed to macroeconomics and monetary theory, development economics and trade theory, public and corporate finance, the theories of industrial organization and rural organization, welfare economics, income and wealth distribution.

Jean-Philippe Touffut is co-founder and director of the Cournot Centre for Economic Studies.