

Acknowledgements

Completing this book would not have been possible without the assistance of many people. We gratefully acknowledge the contributing authors for their expertise in their specialist areas and commitment to meeting required deadlines. We give our heartfelt thanks to our families and friends for their continued support and encouragement for this book and our associated research endeavours. We are also very appreciative of the Edward Elgar publishing house for their belief in the value of this book and encouragement and advice. We particularly acknowledge the efforts of Francine O'Sullivan of Edward Elgar Publishing for her support throughout the editorial process. We also sincerely thank Suyi Lim of Monash University for her meticulous assistance in copy editing.

