

Contents

List of figures and tables	vii
List of contributors	ix
List of abbreviations	xi
Preface	xiii
PART I BASIC FEATURES OF THE CHINESE ECONOMIC SYSTEM
1 A comparison of Chinese and European-style federalism from a law and economics perspective	3
Thomas Eger and Margot Schüller
2 The road to efficient taxation in China	29
Pierre Garelo
3 Legal pluralism in the governance of transitional China	55
Jianwei Zhang and Yijia Jing
PART II SPECIFIC ASPECTS OF THE CHINESE LEGAL SYSTEM FROM AN ECONOMIC PERSPECTIVE
4 The economics of competition policy and the draft of the Chinese competition law	77
Roger Van den Bergh
5 The law and economics of professional regulation: what does the theory teach China?	112
Niels J. Philipsen
6 Regulatory arrangements and incentives for opportunistic behaviour	151
Anthony I. Ogus
7 Special treatment (ST) firms and administrative governance of capital markets in China	164
Julan Du, Lucy Liu Yajun and Sonia M.L. Wong
8 Monitoring problems versus fiduciary duties in Chinese stock companies: an economic and comparative analysis on corporate governance	200
Qing-Yun Jiang

9	The stable self-enforcement and distribution of property right: the right to virtual property in MMORPG Jian Wei and Shanguo Xue	222
PART III CHINA IN THE WORLD ECONOMY
10	Intellectual property law and policy and economic development with special reference to China Anselm Kamperman Sanders	239
11	Economic analysis of compensation for oil pollution damage in China Michael Faure and Wang Hui	272
PART IV CONCLUDING REMARKS
12	Conclusions Thomas Eger, Michael Faure and Zhang Naigen	307
	Index	311