

---

Contents

---

List of contributors vii

PART ONE THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVES

- 1 Civil service systems: introduction and scope of the book 3
Andrew Massey
- 2 The Weberian legacy 13
Peter Barberis
- 3 Contrasting Anglo-American and Continental European civil service systems 31
Sylvia Horton
- 4 Decentralization, devolution and the hollowing out of the state 54
Robert Pyper
- 5 Experiments with joined-up, horizontal and whole-of-government in Anglophone countries 74
John Halligan, Fiona Buick and Janine O'Flynn

PART TWO SYSTEM AND COUNTRY COMPARISONS

- 6 The civil service in Italy 103
Elio Borgonovi and Edoardo Ongaro
- 7 The United States civil service 125
J. Theodore Anagnoson
- 8 A splendid ruined reform: the creation and destruction of a civil service in Argentina 152
Agustín E. Ferraro
- 9 Comparative perspectives of the challenges and prospects of civil service reforms in Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda 178
John-Mary Kauzya
- 10 The public service of India: a mapping expedition 225
O.P. Dwivedi and D.S. Mishra
- 11 Towards public service-oriented governance? Administrative reform with 'Chinese characteristics' 250
Mark Evans

vi	International handbook on civil service systems
12	Japanese public administration at the crossroads: declining trust in government and civil service reform in the age of fiscal retrenchment Akira Nakamura and Masao Kikuchi	282
13	The Australian public service system John Halligan and Chris Sadleir	305
14	The civil service in France: contested complacency? Michael Duggett with Manueline Desbouvries	327
15	The United Kingdom civil service: a devolving system Richard Parry	347
	Index	369