

Contents

---

List of Contributors	vii
Series Foreword	viii
Introduction	ix

PART ONE PHENOMENON OF BUSINESS CYCLES

1. The Importance of Representative Surveys of Enterprises for Empirically Oriented Business Cycle Research Gernot Nerb	3
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---

PART TWO BUSINESS SURVEYS OF THE IFO INSTITUTE

2. Business Survey in Manufacturing Wolfgang Ruppert	19
3. Business Survey in Services Harald Blau	33
4. Investment Survey in Manufacturing Annette Weichselberger	41
5. World Economic Survey Anna Stangl	57
6. Innovation Survey Horst Penzkofer	67

PART THREE ANALYTICAL AND PROGNOSTIC SIGNIFICANCE OF SURVEY DATA

7. Short-Term Industry Branch Forecasting Based on the Results of the Ifo Business Survey Georg Goldrian	83
8. The Significance of the Ifo Business Survey Data at the Regional Level Georg Goldrian	91

9.	Suitability of WES Data for Forecasting Inflation Sandra Hamella and Harry Haupt	99
10.	Methods of Economic Forecasting and Business Cycle Indicators Wolfgang Nierhaus and Jan-Egbert Sturm	117
11.	Evaluation and Development of Composite Leading Indicators Based on Harmonised Business and Consumer Surveys Jürg D. Lindlbauer	143
12.	A Leading Indicator Composed of Survey Data: Appropriate Construction and Prognostic Significance Georg Goldrian	151
13.	Can the Ifo Business Climate Indicator Improve Short-Term GDP Forecasts? Erich Langmantel	159
14.	The Accuracy of Turning Point Predictions with the Ifo Business Climate Christian Hott, André Kunkel and Gernot Nerb	175
15.	A Leading Indicator for Equipment Investment Joachim Gürtler	197
16.	Ifo Survey on Employment Plans: Sectoral Evaluation Klaus Abberger	203
17.	On the Methodology of Business Cycle Analysis Stefan Mittnik and Klaus Wohlrabe	223
	Index	245