Index

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Term</th>
<th>Page Numbers</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>acid rain, caused by exhaust emissions</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Act of Political Union, EU 87</td>
<td>87</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>adverse relationships</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in US firms</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>state and industry in US</td>
<td>33–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alliance of Automobile Manufacturers (AAM), US</td>
<td>33–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>not supportive of CAFE</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>anti-trust laws</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Association des Constructeurs Européens d’Automobile (ACEA)</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>authority of state</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in Japan</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>authority relations, nature of</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>behavioral change</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>beliefs, shared</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bigger engines, preference</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>showing less concern for environment</td>
<td>123</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>biofuels, advanced, German firms</td>
<td>212</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BMW Group</td>
<td>17–19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>competitive pressures</td>
<td>159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>differences with other German firms</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>economic success as basis</td>
<td>183–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>hydrogen technologies, pre-eminence</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>prestige market</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>responsibility</td>
<td>172</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>safeguarding financial returns</td>
<td>160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>social concern not mentioned</td>
<td>170</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>wholly German owned</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>brand image, US</td>
<td>170–71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>business and environmental interests</td>
<td>1, 206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>as environmental problem solver</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>opportunities</td>
<td>246</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>reports by car firms</td>
<td>9, 67–70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CAFE (corporate average fuel economy)</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>concessions</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>standards, not intended for environmental protection</td>
<td>104</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>capitalism</td>
<td>21–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>US as ‘stockmarket capitalism’</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>varieties of</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in Europe</td>
<td>80, 162–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>capitalist states</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>carbon dioxide (CO\textsubscript{2}) emissions</td>
<td>6, 59, 61–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>85 per cent caused by road transport</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>environmental emphasis</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>car class</td>
<td>128–31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>definitions</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>European Union</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Germany</td>
<td>243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Japan</td>
<td>244</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States</td>
<td>243–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>car industry</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>cause of global environmental change</td>
<td>24, 59–75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>environmental issues and business interests</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>global economic importance</td>
<td>3, 4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>global and national attributes</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>‘green’</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>institutional change</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>national home bases</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>cars</td>
<td>110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Japanese/European more fuel efficient than US</td>
<td>110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>smaller rather than larger, Toyota</td>
<td>211</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>showing concern for environment</td>
<td>123–4</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Carson, Rachel, Silent Spring 7

car use and CO₂ emissions 63
reduction 84
taxes and prices, not determining factors 96–7 China and India, emergent economies 234 civil actions 116
against firms 119–22
willingness to take 120 climate change 59, 61–3, 193, 232 costs of, to all 10
Climate Council 6
Club of Rome, Limits to Growth 7 CME-based firms 33, 36, 222, 223 capitalist states 22
consensus decision-making 23, 79 cooperation and collaboration 45 Germany and Japan, organizing principles 41–3 list of CME economies 79 motivated by beliefs 222 negotiated consensus 45
non-market cooperative relationships 136 state-business relations, close 78
CO₂ emissions
by nationality 92
reductions downward trend 1995–2004, Europe 97 not taken seriously in US 108 regulations
EU, US and Japan 84–92
standards
cooperative approach in EU 105 Coalition for Vehicle Choice, US 6 Coalition of Environmentally Responsible Economies (CERES) 8
financial risks 166
codes on internal company strategies, by firm 157 collective relationships in Germany 47 commitment to environmental considerations, stronger German and Japanese firms 177 communitarian obligations to state and society Germany and Japan 36
communitarian relationships in Japan 47 company philosophies, Japan 47 company policy approach in Japanese firms 189 company strategies
codes for 15
internal 190, 205–11
list of firms 175–6
Varieties of Capitalism (VOC) 180–81
competition
Germany, 161–2
US, production volumes 36 competitive pressure 151, 156–7, 245 competitive disadvantage for US 110 concern for environment Germany, US, Japan 117 consensus and cooperation 107 in German firms 189 consensus-oriented negotiation Japan and Germany 35
consumer attitudes over demand Toyota on Prius 203
consumer behavior 93
competition 245
Germany 136, 148, 203–4
Japan 148
lacking for environmentally-friendly products 200–202 over environmental regulations
US 104, 136, 148, 162
versus social attitudes 199–205 continuous improvement kaizen Toyota interview 206 coordinated market economies see CME-based firms co-regulation, Japan and EU 107 corporate average fuel economy see CAFE corporate policy 177–9, 247–8 corporate social responsibility (CSR) for environmental sustainability 8 Daimler-Benz 19
DaimlerChrysler 17, 18, 72, 155 on competition 161
credibility to general public 171
cross-ownership 19
hydrogen fuel cell vehicles (FCVs) 71 leading the market 160 proactive role in environmental benefits 166
shareholder value not mentioned 160–61
social concern not mentioned 170
US and German focus 71
debt finance
Germany and Japan 38
reliance on 39
deregulation 22
in US firms 35
developmental state, Japan 34–5 diesel
EU industry commitments on CO₂ emissions 104
focus on, in Germany 141 less than 1 per cent use in US and
Japan 131–2
lower taxes in EU 85
preference, showing concern for environment 124
diesel and petrol, price differences 96, 201 diesel engines, technological advances 64–5
Germany 67
diesel sales in EU and Germany 133 diesel usage in US, limited 68 diesel-electric hybrid drivetrains 224 direct action
against firms 116
Germany, US and Japan 118–19
Directives, legal instruments of EU binding on member states 81 disciplinary constraints 41 drivetrains, alternative 212 dual-fuel capable vehicles 135 ‘eco cars’ 206
Toyota 213
ecological sensibility 112
a type of governance 114–15 economic activity coordination longer-term perspectives 40 economic fortunes and environmental sustainability
Ford, least concern 184
General Motors, least concern 184
Germany 184
Japan 184
economic growth 118
economic sustainability 248 efficiency of vehicles in Japan 105 electric vehicles 66 employee consultation in Japan 45 employees in Japan, length of service 46
endogenous factors, national variations
Germany and Japan 51
US 51
Energy Conservation Act, Japan, 1970s 89–90
engine size of new cars greater in US 127
environmental attributes, drive for from Toyota, Volkswagen, BMW 205–6
environmental commitments, history of 179–80
environmental concern 7–10, 114–18 agreement on increase of 199 environmental damage carried by cars 4–7
firms and 115
reduction of German, Japan and US 49 responsibility for 10
environmental initiatives in Germany, advanced diesels 210 in Japan 160
petrol-electric hybrids 210
in US 210
environmental issues, raised awareness 168–70
environmental leadership as management objective 229 environmental movements 116, 121
Germany, US and Japan 119, 121
strong support in Germany 140 in US, ineffective in raising consumer demand 138
environmental performance, a quality attribute 200
environmental policies of EU 79, 81 environmental pollution, government reduction 121–2 eventual regulations 77 European Union 77–8
Japan 77–8
United States 77–8, 82
environmental reports 147–87 coding 245–9
firms analysis 149–50
Germany, US and Japan 66–70
eventual responsibility German and Japanese firms’ concern 183 environmental sustainability 248 car firms’ concern for 182
German and Japanese firms’ concern 182 environment, social perceptions of 151 equity in Japanese firms ‘stable shareholders’ 39 ethanol, alternative fuel 135
EU industry commitments on CO₂ emissions 87 European Union (EU) 79–81 regulatory leader 194 federal system of government 82 financial markets, role of 33, 38–40 financial returns, safeguarding 160–62 firm image
standing in society, trust and respect 172 US, trust building 170–71 firms environmental commitments 189–219 external factors 50–51 family attitude in Japanese firms 39, 46 home states, material importance 17–21 interviews with Australian personnel 191–2 Japan, relationships 45–6 serving self, in LMEs 36 serving society in CMEs 36 Ford 18
consumer demands 158
environmental attributes 204 corporate citizenship 207
environmental issues, raised awareness 209
financial risks 166
LME preoccupation with material factors 213 main objectives profitability and economic success 217 producing larger vehicles 211
social concern not mentioned 170
statement of policy non-specific 177, 180
state regulations adversarial relationships in US firms 195 demonstration as good corporate citizens 196 wholly US owned 19
Ford’s Excursion, fuel inefficient 101 four wheel drives 125
fuel consumption
averages 95
price differential 96
reduction 64
tax policies 96
fuel economy 61–3, 67
distortions in US 99–100 environmental emphasis 192 in Germany and Japan, improvements 125 improvement 84
by nationality 92
operating cost 200
in US unchanged 124–5
new cars, average 125
fuel economy standards
corporate average fuel economy (CAFE) 88 EU cars 201
in Japan, successful target meeting 90–92, 101, 201 passenger cars 88–90
in US 90–92
fuel prices and taxes in 1995 85–6 fuels, alternative 64–70, 84, 224 future challenges
Ford’s attitude 211–13
German firms 212
Index

gas guzzlers and social stigma 233 General Motors 18, 154 codes least on environmental sustainability 184
consumer demand 159
financial risks, 166
Hummer, fuel inefficient 101
social concern not mentioned 170
US, statement of policy, non-specific 177, 179
wholly US-owned 19
German car industry 4 dominance of European market 20, 80 German cars, brands market leaders in Europe 21
German firms 17
customer demand, ahead of 214
diesel engines, technological advances 230 exceed government regulations 228 focus on diesels and alternative fuels 70–72 incremental technologies 224 longer perspective 213
multinationals 16
production volumes 5
social attitude more important than consumer demand 227
social concerns 217
statement of policy, environmental responsibility 178–9 German Greens leading public opinion 194
German passenger car sales by class 128 German state as ‘enabling’ 34 global capitalism 31
Global Climate Coalition (GCC) 6 Global Reporting Initiative 8 globalization 16
governments cooperation in EU and Japan 139 consensus-driven regulation 84 intervention suggesting environmental sustainability 195 policy as ‘window dressing’ 195 regulations for firm 192 support for R&D 192
Greenhouse Challenge, Ford signed up 195 greenhouse gas emissions 6, 62
Green Party in mainstream politics, Germany, 140
Greenpeace business conference, 2000 9 ‘group coordination’ Japan 48 harmony, Japanese notion 118 historical contexts 51–2 history/path dependence, Japan 179–80 home basis of firms institutional importance 21–3 home markets, domination of 20 home states of firms 16–23 Honda 17, 18
environmental responsibility 178–9 social awareness of environmental issues 168 wholly Japanese owned 19
Honda and Toyota and leadership emphasis 162 household products, choice for environment 118–19 human interaction 13
human rights 114
hybrid technology
Germany 68
Japan 68
US, for fuel efficiency in light trucks 68
hydrogen fuel cell vehicles (FCVs) 64, 65, 70, 224
market conditions
German firms 212
Japanese focus 69
US and German focus 69
hydrogen power 210
image of firms 171
incentives, effort-inducing 43 increased returns for shareholders in US more important than environmental change 137 individualistic achievement US firms, and Anglo-Saxon cultures 118 ‘industry coordination’, European CMEs 48 institutional perspectives, 12–16 institutions 13 inter-firm relations 37 in CMEs, less competition 37 internal combustion engine design 64 internal company strategies 50
Japan 152
international implications 16, 213–19 lobby groups 6
regulation 246
interview findings, summary 215–16 interview questions to firms 250–52 intra-firm relations 41–5 investment in new products
Germany and Japan 5, 44
US 5, 44
Japan
capitalisms 2
car industry 4
environmental policy consensus approach 82–3 legally binding targets 83
multinationals 16
‘nationalist-paternalist capitalist state’ 35 non-market relationships firms, customers and suppliers 37
production volumes 5
Japan Automobile Manufacturers Association (JAMA) 244
fuel economy 107–8
Japanese and German firms future domination for environment 217
Japanese firms 17
hybrid resources 224
introducing radical technologies 72–3, 224, 228 leadership position on environment 228–9
longer perspective 213
market leadership desired 230 relationships 45–6
social attitude more important than consumer demand 227
technonationalist capitalism 73
Japanese government action possible 139
Japanese passenger car sales by class 129–31 Kyoto Protocol 7, 62 influence 193
not ratified by US 104
laissez-faire economy 34 leadership emphasis in US 161
Toyota and BMW on 198, 207 legislation, national Germany 165
Japan 165
US 165
liberal economic perspective 11–14, 24, 25
liberal market economies see LME-based firms light trucks in US 88 actual fuel economy in US worse since 1990 98–9, 100
as passenger cars 125–6 showing less concern for environment 123
litigation in US 82
LME-based firms 33, 222, 223
capitalist states 22
list of Anglo-Saxon economies 79 rational business calculators 222 organizing principles 41–3 preference for less intervention 36 separation of states and markets 78 Maastricht Treaty, 1991 79 management decisions, unilateral in US 47
management objectives 40–44 manufacturing process 4 market competition
by LMEs in US 204
enshrined by law 37
market coordination in US 22, 136 market demand 202
market-driven approach in US 73 market efficiency and competition US addressing climate change 83 market forces 11, 25, 50, 151, 162–3, 199–205, 222 analysis 157
codes on, by firm 154
Germany 38
higher in US firms’ rationale 152
Japan 38
priority of, in US 60 market intervention 34, 193 market leaders, 151
Japanese firms 142
market mechanisms effect 93–7, 103
ineffectivity of 112 point-of-sale fuel taxes 84–7 market mentality and LMEs 36 market perspectives in US 217 markets and CMEs
in Germany and Japan 36 market share 151, 246 of major car firms, 21, 161 market signals, response to 25 material factors market forces and state regulation 155 market forces by firm 158 material incentives for US firms, weak 137 material versus normative factors 152–5
Germany, Japanese, US averages 153 Meiji Restoration, Japan 52 mergers and acquisitions 40–41 motivation car firms 2, 148
for environmental action 61
environmental issues 30 multinational companies (MNCs) 1, 3, 8, 16 local and global operations 32 states and 31
national home bases
car industry 16
nationalities, strategies based on 224 national policies, transference to EC 79 national regulation 246 national variations in production aims 214 nature, mastering or coexisting with 116–17 Nazism in Germany, impact of 52
negotiated consensus 45
German preference 51, 118
Nissan 17, 18
cross-ownership 19
environmental responsibility 178–9 national legislation 165 social attitudes, awareness of environmental issues 168
nitrogen oxide from road transport 6 non-market action against firms 116, 119–20
non-market cooperative relationships 22 normative factors 167–81 rational for action 152 social attitudes by firm 169 normative institutional framework 24 norm lifecycle 15
oil consumption depletion of world’s resources 6 oil price escalation 9, 60, 233 OPEC oil shocks of 1970s rising fuel prices 104 ownership of industry 19 partnership approach of CMEs 116
to environmental regulation European Union and Japan 83 partnerships, terms for state-business 193
passenger cars
CO₂ emissions 33 per cent 4
production 18
total distances 94
path dependence 142, 249 as key factor, driver for environmental strategies 190 penalties for non-compliance in US 82 petrol and diesel-electric hybrid drivetrains 64–5, 224 petrol cars, average actual fuel economy, Japan 102
petrol-electric hybrids, Japan
Ford Escape 193
Toyota Prius 132–3, 136, 141, 193, 202–3, 210
petrol taxes 9, 85
policies from home states 213 policy process 165–6 political power of car industry 25 pollution by cars 6
post-materialism in industrial societies 114, 229
power of states 31
price competition 50
price incentives
Japan and US 87
private enterprise and ‘good citizenship’
Germany 37
proactive action 161
product development initiatives 67, 193 production volumes, in Germany, US and Japan 5
product markets, role of 33, 35–8 profit-making, US managers’ aim 46 profit-maximisers, firms as 12 profit-motivated interests of firms
in US 34
profits and sales 160–61, 245 propulsion systems, alternative 84 rational choice mechanism 12–14 rationales for action 151 rationality 11, 13
and utilitarianism 11
‘reciprocal consent’ state and business
Japan 35
recycling for environment
Germany, US and Japan 122
regional market in EU 81
regulation 22, 32
avoidance by US firms 167 comparison with actual fuel economy 92–103
compliance in Japanese firms 167
European Union 79
imposition of, in US 84 necessity of 77
stringency of 102–3
US, less than EU or Japan 104 regulatory targets 197
Renault, part owner of Nissan 19 reputation and relationships 37 achieving compliance in Japan 106 in CMEs 36
research and development grants for new technologies 193 responsibility to society 167
German firms 39
varied in firms 172–3
Rio Earth Summit 1992 8
environmental profile raising 7 risk management 160–61, 245 road fuels, total consumption 94 Road Vehicles Act, Japan 244 sales of alternately powered vehicles 134 consumer demand low 135 Second World War, impact 52 self-interested profit seeking 232 self-reliance of US markets 33–4 shareholder approval in US 38 shareholder interests, LMEs, 38 shareholder/market versus stakeholder model 41
shareholders as investors, not controllers
Germany and Japan 39
shareholder value 151, 156, 160–61, 245
ensuring 47
no references for DaimlerChrysler 163 no references for Japan 163 shareholdings, cross-firm, stable, Japan 39 short-term financial gains versus longer-term market domination 36
short-term profit maximisation 44
US shareholders 39
Smith, Adam, Wealth of Nations on public and private economic affairs 32
social attitudes 112–45, 199–205, 247 codes for, by firm 156
German firms 40, 154, 168
customer demand and 189 discounted in US LME-based firms 226
Index

on environment 113–23
leadership position and, Japan 214 positive in Germany 140 prioritized by German and Japanese CME firms 226 US and Japan and Germany 122–3, 135–40, 148, 167, 175
social concerns
codes for 151
German firms 186
social contract with society 36 social costs 11
social duty in Japan 186 social perception of firms 46 society as governance 112–45 sports utility vehicles see SUVs stable shareholders, Germany and Japan 39 stakeholder loyalty, US firms 171 ‘stakeholder models’, differences
  Germany 39
  Japan 39
stakeholders, responsibility to German and Japanese priority, value of 139, 174 US firms’ priority, materialistic 173–4 well-being of, Germany and Japan 46 standards, effects of 87–102 standards of living 114 state-business relations 33–5, 192–9 closer in CMEs 225
  Germany 34
  Japan 34, 35
  seen as constraint by Ford 198 US, EU and Japan 106
state interventions 11 greater range welcomed 193 state regulation 25, 50, 151, 163, 246
  European Union 77–110
  by firm 164
  for LME-based US industry 109 and VOC 166–7
  imposition of standards for US industry 225
  Japan 77–110
  United States 77–110
states 23
state sovereignty 31
state support for industry, Germany 34 stock markets, reliance on LMEs 38 sustainability 61, 114, 181–2
SUVs as passenger vehicles in US 98, 125–6 fuel-thirsty 142
taxes and prices, versus car usage 93 tax donations for environmental pollution 121–2 tax increases 121–2
tax system to address climate change 233 teams and groups, Japan 47 technological leadership as goal Toyota 208
technologies
  incremental 64–5
  Japan 60
  role of 33, 48–50
technonationalism Japan 60 technological leadership as goal, Japan 141 Toyota 17, 18
  benchmarks 198
  environmental responsibility 178–9
  Honda and, societal leaders emotive statements 171 wholly Japanese owned 19 transmission advances 64 transnationality index (TNI) 17, 18 travelling distances of passenger vehicles 95 turnover volumes in Germany US and Japan 5 United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP)
environmental profile raising 7
United Nations (UN) Global Compact 8
United States
  action on climate change, small 103
Greening the car industry

CAFE standards 89
power 124
less effective 103
production 3, 4
capitalism 2
use, growth worldwide 63
car industry 4
weight 124
firms in US 17
Verband der Automobilindustrie (VDA) driven by market forces 224 passenger vehicles 243 increasingly damaging vehicles 204 Volkswagen, 17, 18, 155 light trucks as passenger cars 130, 136, 224 market potential as main concern 73–4 reacting to consumer demand 229 fuel consumption since 1992, no lowering of 98 customer’s demand 229 fuel economy, worst for two decades 101 government environmental matters, slow progress 194 government support for environmentally-friendly products 138 market forces focus 115–16, 185
multinationals 16
non-intervention in markets 33 passenger car sales 129 average fuel economy 99
production volumes, 5
state-business ties 81
United States Department of Energy 243
United States Energy Information Administration 135
United States Environment Protection Agency (EPA) 243

Varieties of Capitalism (VOC) 2, 3, 16, 21–3, 31–52, 77–82, 223 and social attitudes 114–16 vehicles alternatively powered, sales 132–5 design 64

wages and salaries 43
wealth creation 114
workers’ interests 43
World Business Council for Sustainable Development (WBCSD) 6, 8, 15, 23, 114 World Trade Organization (WTO) 7 World Values Survey (WVS) 116–23, 234–41